Key Teams Bargain On Steel Pact

Talks Seem To Be Following Course Set By President

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top negotiators meet today in steel labor contract talks that seem to be following right along the course set by President Kennedy.

Key bargaining teams headed by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, and R. Conrad Cooper of U. S. Steel, chief industry negotiator, were to meet in their first formal session.

It seemed clear, however, they had gotten together beforehand, not once but frequently, and already have pretty well worked over their area of differences toward early new agreements to succeed the industry labor pacts expiring June 30.

Cooper, for example, told newsmen Wednesday that the industry-union human relations committee, which has been meeting regularly for some time, has worked out certain joint recommendations. Just what, he would not say. Nor would McDonald.

Both men expressed high hope—as 1962 steel bargaining got under way to an unprecedented early and amicable start Wednesday—that they could achieve the quick, non-inflationary deal with little or no price boost that the White House has been urging.

Wednesday's bargaining opener brought together about 500 steel mill managers and an equal number of local union officials divided into 11 sessions representing the major steel companies.

These were "sound off" meetings designed to let local people let off steam and relate woes built up since the 1959 contract was negotiated after a record 116-day strike.

Some degree of heat was expected as the natural thing, but industry men said they were surprised at the intensity of some of the "beefs" expressed by union men at the meetings. This especially related to grievance and seniority problems.

Reports persisted, however, that even before the formal bargaining started the principals had pretty much agreed on what they had in mind in the way of a settlement.

This was reported to be 10 or 12 cents an hour in pay and job security gains for the union, annually over a three-year period, and probable federal tax relief, through more generous depreciation concessions, for the industry, thereby avoiding price increases.

The 430,000 steelworkers now earn between $2.28½ and $4.38½ an hour.

Site Chosen For Social Security Unit

The Carroll Building, 740 Dresden Ave., has been selected for East Liverpool's proposed new Social Security Administration district office scheduled to open soon.

W. A. McCauley, director of the Youngstown District office, said today remodeling of the former Ford agency structure is under way to comply with particular specifications.

The new office, which will serve residents of Columbiana County, is expected to be opened in mid-March after completion of the remodeling, McCauley said.

Bids for the rent of space for the local center were opened by the General Services Administration at Cleveland last fall and the Carroll Building was selected recently.

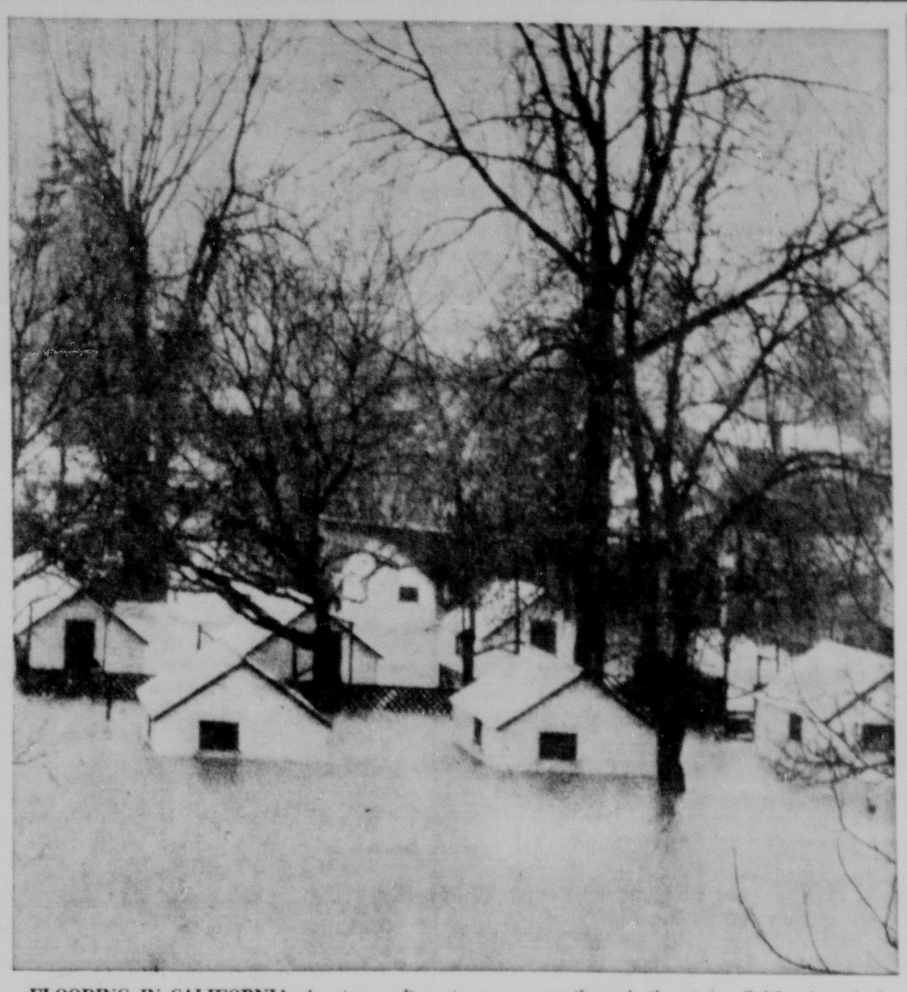

The office will be the first for the county. Population growth and other factors influenced the choice of East Liverpool for the new center, the administration said.

Finland's President Elected To New Term

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—President Urho Kekkonen, a staunch advocate of Finnish neutrality in the cold war, was re-elected to a second term today, as expected.

The tall, 61-year-old president won 199 votes in the 300-member Electoral College on the first ballot.

He snowed under the Communist candidate, Paavo Aito, who got 62 votes and Social Democrat Rafael Paasio who got 37. Emil Skog, the candidate of the Social Democratic Opposition group, received 2 votes.

180 At Chamber Event

Federal Control Seen As Problem

The biggest problem facing the Ohio Valley and the rest of the U. S. is the growing concentration of power in government, Dr. Perry E. Gresham, president of Bethany College, declared Wednesday night at the 46th annual dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Gresham addressed a crowd of 180 at the Country Club, asserting that the "absolute power" centered in the federal government "appears to be growing at an unprecedented rate."

Lack Of Awareness

He also assessed the valley area's future, declaring that its leaders have "not been adequately aware of its community nature." It needs to develop its natural and man-made advantages to help overcome economic competition from abroad, particularly the threat posed by the new European Common Market, the educator declared.

Dr. Gresham, widely-known educator, author and churchman, was introduced by School Supt. Ralph W. Betts, chairman of the Chamber's public education committee. Alvin T. Babb, Chamber president, presided. Invocation was by the Rev. John L. Clark of the First Methodist Church.

"Regulation and taxation have come to occupy such a large proportion of executive time and talent that our productive genius is somewhat impaired," Dr. Gresham said.

Ignore Facts Of Life

"Even the economic facts of life appear to have only meager influence on some of the people in high government posts. Unless freedom-loving Americans can develop sufficient countervailing power to hold the federal executive within bounds, we shall wind up with everything in the public sector and complete loss of individual liberty."

"Individual responsibility, private initiative, non - government organizations which protect private education and private industry deserve our careful attention if we are to remain free," Dr. Gresham continued. "The time has come for people interested in business to become politically capable and effective."

Called Community

The Ohio Valley is "a definite community" which has "common economic difficulties and advantages," Dr. Gresham asserted. "But the leadership of the valley has not been adequately aware of its community nature," he said. "There has been a tendency for individual cities, villages and counties to think in terms of discreet entities without relation to the economic and cultural complex of the total industrial valley."

Citing the advantages of the valley area, Dr. Gresham said they include cheap river transportation, sound basic industries with wide experience and the schools, colleges, churches and cultural organizations that provide "an attractive climate for the citizens." But every one of the advantages needs to be enhanced, he added.

High labor and production costs are among the area's disadvantages, Dr. Gresham continued. The

Robert Kennedy Cheered And Jeered In Indonesia

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy drew a mixture of cheers and jeers today after challenging student hecklers "if you disagree with any aspect of American policy step forward—come up here and tell me."

Only one student of Jogjakarta's Gadjah Mada University came hesitatingly forward with a long question referring to the American "capitalistic and monopolistic society."

Jabbing his finger toward the youth, the U.S. attorney general launched into a long statement on U.S. life and politics. Showing flashes of anger, Kennedy told the students at one point to grow up when they attempted to pin him down on the U.S. attitude toward Indonesia's claim to Dutch-held West New Guinea.

After reiterating that the United States felt ownership of the disputed territory should be determined by negotiations, he added heatedly: "You should be more mature. Here, you've had the benefit of an education and you cannot expect the United States to agree with everything you do."

The attorney general said his brother, President Kennedy, was injured in the Pacific during World War II partly to free Indonesia and during the same time American soldiers were seeking to free Holland.

"We retain ties with both countries and we want a peaceful settlement between you," he said, repeating the theme he has been stressing since arriving in Indonesia with his wife on Monday on a good-will tour.

A member of the Kennedy party emphasized that the attorney general "is under no instructions" to mediate the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea.

The spokesman's comment came in reply to newsmen who asked about Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio's statement Wednesday that Kennedy and President Sukarno were "seeking a speedy solution" to the dispute.

Kennedy and the Indonesian president met Tuesday and Wednesday and are scheduled to confer again on Sunday when Kennedy returns from his tour of central Java and Bali.

Disarm Talks Face Trouble Prior To Start

Mr. K's Next Move Should Determine Just How Serious

WASHINGTON (AP)—The big new disarmament conference set for Geneva March 14 appears to be in serious trouble a month before it opens.

Just how serious the trouble is should be determined in the next week or so by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's next move in his campaign for a summit level meeting.

If Khrushchev insists on going personally to Geneva for the opening sessions, U. S. officials said today, his action will be taken here and in other Western capitals as evidence that he is concerned only with propaganda aims.

If, however, he is prepared to put off his summit proposal until some later stage of the negotiations, officials said that his action could be taken as an indication that he is interested in making a serious start on disarmament, even at the cost of some small concession to Western views.

In view of the speed with which the situation has developed during the past week, the expectation in government quarters here is that a new Khrushchev message to President Kennedy, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and other leaders involved in making preparations for the Geneva talks should be forthcoming in a few days.

At the moment, top officials believe there is a better than 50 per cent chance that Khrushchev will go to Geneva, even though Macmillan and Kennedy have argued against starting the talks at the summit, and Kennedy is reported to be personally determined not to go under any circumstances. This estimate of Khrushchev's probable action is based, among other things, on a belief that he probably wants a forum of international importance in which to sound off against the prospective new series of atmospheric nuclear weapons tests by the United States.

Suspect In Attempted Robbery Is Arrested

WEIRTON — Michael A. Pochire of Youngstown is scheduled for arraignment in police court this afternoon, charged with the attempted armed robbery Wednesday afternoon of James Bournias, operator of the Peoples Restaurant.

Bournias told police he found a pistol-toting man in his garage about 3:30 yesterday while entering his car. He said the armed man ran outside and attempted to close the overhead garage door, but gave up after a struggle and fled onto Main St.

A few minutes later, Pochiro was arrested at Ave. B and Main St. by Weirton police and Deputy Sheriffs Paul Cowey and James Young.

Storm In Atlantic Forces New Delay In Glenn's Flight

Astronaut Unruffled Over Delay

Bears Frustration Remarkably Well, Psychologist Says

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Today's new delay in his space voyage doesn't find John H. Glenn Jr. "sitting on his hands, fretting."

For this astronaut, headed eventually for a great venture, is a man "remarkably able to bear frustration," says Dr. Robert Voas, a psychologist who is training officer for America's seven astronauts.

Furthermore, Glenn is busier than most people realize, and the activity helps him handle the long waits and last-minute postponements, Dr. Voas said.

To many people, the idea of riding into space is frightening. To come close to the moment of pushing the button—and having that moment stayed again and again—could seem an unbearable strain. How can an astronaut take it?

Partly it is because of training, the psychologist explains. Space flight is more like an ordinary event to them, much as is the sight of blood to a surgeon.

"I'm sure John is aware, in fact more than most of us, of the dangers in his mission," Voas said. "But I've seen no evidence with John that concern for his personal safety is a very important item. I think that is typical of all the astronauts—men who have lived with danger all their lives and learned to live well with it."

To the experienced test pilot of aircraft, the step into space is a next logical development. He's prepared to accept delays because of "bugs" developing in complex craft. But he's also familiar with all aspects of his plane—or his spacecraft—and repeatedly flies pretend missions.

The delays, if they have had any effects, have "generally been beneficial," Dr. Voas believes.

When weather or a mechanical problem says "No go," Glenn is soon occupied with meetings and continued training. That helps combat frustration, Dr. Voas said.

Illinois Fire Claims Lives Of 7 Children

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP) —Six young brothers and a neighbor girl perished Wednesday night in a fire which destroyed their small frame house in nearby St. Anne Woods. The victims ranged in age from 1½ to 12 years.

The mother of the six boys, Gwendolyn Mallory, 40, a widow, was at a neighbor's home, about a mile away in Pembroke Township, when the fire broke out about 11:30 p.m.

Fire Chief Robert Hayes said the fire was caused by defective wiring. The five-room house burned to the ground.

Police said Mrs. Mallory had left home about 10 p.m. and the children presumably had gone to bed. The mother had left the children in charge of her oldest son, Michael, 12.

In the home with him were his brothers, Harold, 8; Bruce, 7; Claude, 5; Robert, 2; and Mark, 1½; and Barbara Ewing, 3, daughter of Thelma Ewing, a neighbor who is ill in a hospital in nearby Clifton.

Mrs. Mallory's husband, Robert, was killed about 18 months ago in Chicago while working on a building which collapsed.

Postponed Due To High Waves, Gale

Tomorrow's Effort Scheduled Between 7:30 And 12:30

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A 54-mile gale sweeping across the central Atlantic forced the United States today to cancel its ninth attempt to rocket Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., around the world. The next try is Friday.

The storm, covering an area of about 27,000 square miles, was driving 18 foot waves through the area where Glenn would have to land in event of an emergency during the first few minutes after liftoff.

The center of this storm is located about 950 miles east of Bermuda.

The postponement was announced by Paul Haney, news director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, at 1:18 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

As it did Wednesday, the "scrub" came after a special weather briefing for Project Mercury Director Walter C. Williams at the Cape Canaveral control center. The briefing began at midnight.

Immediately after the decision was made, the White House was advised of the further delay in the planned launch which was first scheduled for Dec. 20.

Glenn was awakened at 1:05 a.m. by his doctor, William Douglas, and advised of postponement.

Subsequently Douglas said that Glenn appeared to be somewhat disappointed and the doctor quoted Glenn as saying:

"Everything is still go but the weather. When we get weather we will go." The doctor said Glenn then went back to bed.

Earlier in the day Glenn's psychologist, Dr. Robert Voas, said the astronaut had heard of inquiries by newsmen on the subject of how he relaxed after these repeated postponements.

Voas said Glenn asked him to "tell the press my relaxation consists of sleeping." The doctor said Glenn did not take sleeping pills or tranquilizers.

U.S. Attache Shot In Head, Dies In Congo

Chauffeur Held; Police Hunt House Boy And Watchman

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The assistant U.S. military attache in Leopoldville, Lt. Col. Hulen D. Stogner, 39, of El Paso, Tex., was shot in the head Wednesday night as he lay on his bed reading.

He died an hour later without regaining consciousness.

Within two hours, a Congolese chauffeur was arrested but a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said questioning of him had provided no useful information.

The chauffeur was held in custody by U.N. Nigerian police, and a search was launched for Stogner's Congolese house boy and his night watchman.

U.N. and Congolese police were investigating the killing. No weapon was found, but plaster casts were taken of footprints found outside Stogner's quarters.

Nearly 500 Congolese troops encircled the Parc Hembise residential section of Leopoldville within an hour of the attack. They searched all houses in the vicinity, including quarters of other diplomats.

Man, 2 Youths Held For Pay Phone Thefts

1 Admits Looting Coin Boxes Here, In Chester, Elsewhere

A 37-year-old man and two boys, 17, are being held by the Columbiana County sheriff's department at Lisbon for investigation in connection with a series of robberies of public telephones after their arrest early today as a result of three-way co-operation between the Chester and East Liverpool police department's and the sheriff's office.

Although interrogation of the trio is in its early phases, one of the juveniles has admitted that he and the other boy were responsible for damage to pay phones in booths at Chester and East Liverpool Wednesday night and early today, as well as robbery of other telephones within the last few days at Elkton, Franklin Square and Calcutta, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said.

The adult faces questioning in connection with the theft of an auto in Morgantown a few days ago. It was found abandoned on the Huston Rd., off Route 170. The man is believed to be a Morgantown resident.

The sheriff said Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman took the trio into custody for investigation because they were observed in an auto that matched the description of a car seen in Elkton at the time of a telephone rifling case.

Then the sheriff's department learned that the three also were wanted for the telephone damage in East Liverpool and Chester, which had occurred only a few hours prior to the arrest.

The East Liverpool - Chester phase of the case opened at 2 a.m. Patrolman Clarence Lennens

The Crucible Steel Co. has announced the start-up of initial operations in the former Treadwell Construction Co. plant adjoining the Midland Works.

Four high - temperature annealing furnaces and a magnesium coating line have been installed.

Crucible leased the property when Treadwell closed its plant last year.

The new facilities were described by W. E. Gregg, vice president of operations, as "a pilot stage operation which is part of a continuing program aimed at expanding Midland Works production of fully - processed and semi - processed silicon steels."

Gregg said the market for these highly specialized steels, used principally in motors, transformers and generators, is growing rapidly. The Midland Works is now producing these electrical steels in smaller quantities.

"When we can increase production of silicon steels," he added, "we will be in a position to capitalize on the rising demand forecast for electrical steels. The

Disarm Talks Face Trouble Prior To Start

Mr. K's Next Move Should Determine Just How Serious

Postponed Due To High Waves, Gale

Tomorrow's Effort Scheduled Between 7:30 And 12:30

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A 54-mile gale sweeping across the central Atlantic forced the United States today to cancel its ninth attempt to rocket Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., around the world. The next try is Friday.

The storm, covering an area of about 27,000 square miles, was driving 18 foot waves through the area where Glenn would have to land in event of an emergency during the first few minutes after liftoff.

The center of this storm is located about 950 miles east of Bermuda.

The postponement was announced by Paul Haney, news director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, at 1:18 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

As it did Wednesday, the "scrub" came after a special weather briefing for Project Mercury Director Walter C. Williams at the Cape Canaveral control center. The briefing began at midnight.

Immediately after the decision was made, the White House was advised of the further delay in the planned launch which was first scheduled for Dec. 20.

Glenn was awakened at 1:05 a.m. by his doctor, William Douglas, and advised of postponement.

Subsequently Douglas said that Glenn appeared to be somewhat disappointed and the doctor quoted Glenn as saying:

"Everything is still go but the weather. When we get weather we will go." The doctor said Glenn then went back to bed.

Earlier in the day Glenn's psychologist, Dr. Robert Voas, said the astronaut had heard of inquiries by newsmen on the subject of how he relaxed after these repeated postponements.

Voas said Glenn asked him to "tell the press my relaxation consists of sleeping." The doctor said Glenn did not take sleeping pills or tranquilizers.

Illinois Fire Claims Lives Of 7 Children

KANKAKEE, Ill. (AP) —Six young brothers and a neighbor girl perished Wednesday night in a fire which destroyed their small frame house in nearby St. Anne Woods. The victims ranged in age from 1½ to 12 years.

The mother of the six boys, Gwendolyn Mallory, 40, a widow, was at a neighbor's home, about a mile away in Pembroke Township, when the fire broke out about 11:30 p.m.

Fire Chief Robert Hayes said the fire was caused by defective wiring. The five-room house burned to the ground.

Police said Mrs. Mallory had left home about 10 p.m. and the children presumably had gone to bed. The mother had left the children in charge of her oldest son, Michael, 12.

In the home with him were his brothers, Harold, 8; Bruce, 7; Claude, 5; Robert, 2; and Mark, 1½; and Barbara Ewing, 3, daughter of Thelma Ewing, a neighbor who is ill in a hospital in nearby Clifton.

Mrs. Mallory's husband, Robert, was killed about 18 months ago in Chicago while working on a building which collapsed.

U.S. Attache Shot In Head, Dies In Congo

Chauffeur Held; Police Hunt House Boy And Watchman

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The assistant U.S. military attache in Leopoldville, Lt. Col. Hulen D. Stogner, 39, of El Paso, Tex., was shot in the head Wednesday night as he lay on his bed reading.

He died an hour later without regaining consciousness.

Within two hours, a Congolese chauffeur was arrested but a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said questioning of him had provided no useful information.

The chauffeur was held in custody by U.N. Nigerian police, and a search was launched for Stogner's Congolese house boy and his night watchman.

U.N. and Congolese police were investigating the killing. No weapon was found, but plaster casts were taken of footprints found outside Stogner's quarters.

Nearly 500 Congolese troops encircled the Parc Hembise residential section of Leopoldville within an hour of the attack. They searched all houses in the vicinity, including quarters of other diplomats.

SHERILL, N.Y. (AP) — The Shues are going to need a lot more shoes because there's a lot more Shues.

Douglas Shue, and his wife, Barbara, who were the parents of five children, today are the parents of eight.

Mrs. Shue gave birth to triplets —all boys—in Oneida City Hospital Wednesday.

Man, 2 Youths Held For Pay Phone Thefts

1 Admits Looting Coin Boxes Here, In Chester, Elsewhere

A 37-year-old man and two boys, 17, are being held by the Columbiana County sheriff's department at Lisbon for investigation in connection with a series of robberies of public telephones after their arrest early today as a result of three-way co-operation between the Chester and East Liverpool police department's and the sheriff's office.

Although interrogation of the trio is in its early phases, one of the juveniles has admitted that he and the other boy were responsible for damage to pay phones in booths at Chester and East Liverpool Wednesday night and early today, as well as robbery of other telephones within the last few days at Elkton, Franklin Square and Calcutta, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said.

The adult faces questioning in connection with the theft of an auto in Morgantown a few days ago. It was found abandoned on the Huston Rd., off Route 170. The man is believed to be a Morgantown resident.

The sheriff said Deputy Herman (Cy) Wellman took the trio into custody for investigation because they were observed in an auto that matched the description of a car seen in Elkton at the time of a telephone rifling case.

Then the sheriff's department learned that the three also were wanted for the telephone damage in East Liverpool and Chester, which had occurred only a few hours prior to the arrest.

The East Liverpool - Chester phase of the case opened at 2 a.m. Patrolman Clarence Lennens

Crucible Uses Former Plant Of Treadwell

The Crucible Steel Co. has announced the start-up of initial operations in the former Treadwell Construction Co. plant adjoining the Midland Works.

Four high - temperature annealing furnaces and a magnesium coating line have been installed.

Crucible leased the property when Treadwell closed its plant last year.

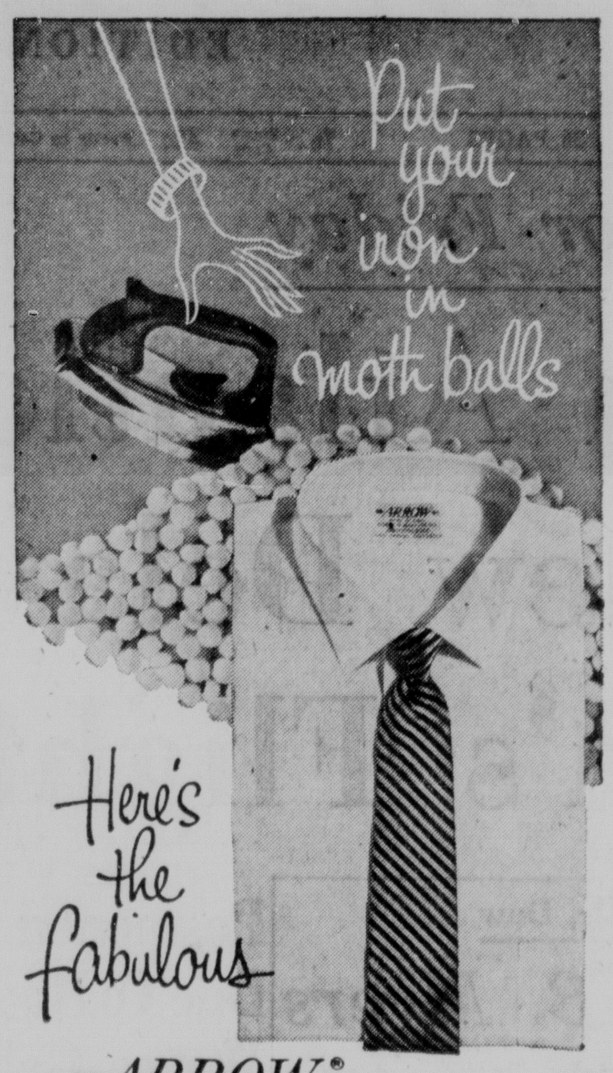

The new facilities were described by W. E. Gregg, vice president of operations, as "a pilot stage operation which is part of a continuing program aimed at expanding Midland Works production of fully - processed and semi - processed silicon steels."

Gregg said the market for these highly specialized steels, used principally in motors, transformers and generators, is growing rapidly. The Midland Works is now producing these electrical steels in smaller quantities.

"When we can increase production of silicon steels," he added, "we will be in a position to capitalize on the rising demand forecast for electrical steels. The

Next meeting is Feb. 28, according to Dale Rose, secretary-treasurer.

Volunteers For The Moon?

The sincerity of people who want to do something about wage earners displaced by automated machinery is above reproach.

They mean well.

But, meaning well, they should remember that everything they say on this sore subject is being listened to closely.

"Export people," says the chairman of U.S. Industries, which makes automated machinery. "We're not going to be able to employ everybody here. Let's send them to the places where they're needed."

We wish John I. Snyder Jr. hadn't said this. He's the same one who had said previously his company would collect dues from its automated machines to finance a foundation to study technological unemployment—and that sounded like a note of sympathy.

A PROPOSAL to export U.S. labor to underdeveloped countries to help them gain industrial momentum, while taking them out of our own labor market, is going to go over like a cast-iron balloon. It sounds as if Mr. Snyder regarded human beings as an exportable commodity.

That kind of thinking isn't helped by the explanation that volunteers would be called for to fill the ranks of the exportees.

The idea belongs to countries that have endured mass emigration of their young men and women because there was nothing for them to do at home. This was how millions of people found their way to America, land of opportunity. Here there was something to do.

MUST IT NOW be admitted that descendants of the "huddled masses yearning to breathe free. . . the homeless and the tempest-tost" must be encouraged to go back where they came from because their innate human inefficiency bars them from successful competition with electronic gear that has no mouths to feed, no wants to appetites, no whims, nothing but barren, whirring efficiency?

Must it be anticipated that the ultimate fate of the United States will be as grim as that of Britain, battered veteran of the industrial revolution whose young people have been leaving by shiploads for new lands of opportunity?

Must we learn to think of outer space as a potential "liebensraum" for earthlings who lost out to machines in competition to see who could be first to eliminate the human factor in industrial operations and thereby win the grand prize for efficiency?

We are sure no one wants to leave an impression of ruthlessness when talking about doing something with people whose jobs can be handled more efficiently by automated machinery. We are just as sure that is the impression many of them will leave unless they guard their tongues.

There Would Be A Goodly Throng

An Associated Press report of a retiring sea captain who dislikes the sea after 46 years and only went to sea in the first place because of poverty and a family tradition of seafaring has nothing to hide.

There are preachers who never liked preaching, lawyers who hate their profession, doctors of medicine who would rather have done something else, actors who despise themselves for being trapped in an art they do not respect and plenty of big, successful businessmen who resent the years they are wasting on business when they would be happier doing something else.

The retiring captain, Geoffrey M. Fletcher, master of H. M. S. Andes, admits he is afraid of the sea in rough weather. He has nothing to hide about that either. There are firemen afraid of fire, policemen who dread the possibility of being shot, teachers who live in terror of whimsical administrators and captious parents, high-wire performers who get the shakes when they think about falling.

There are structural iron walkers who don't like to walk I-beams a thousand feet in the air, airplane pilots who never liked to fly and are scared stiff of foul weather and sandhogs who shiver every time they climb into another caisson to spend a turn in a tunnel project.

Housewives routinely declare if they never had to flop another mop or open another can of beans it would be too soon. And just about any one of us would admit, if pressed, captain, that mostly we are doing what we are doing because of a combination of poverty and pressure, sometimes including tradition, though mostly we were told at the parental knee to get into something that would be better than the old man and the old lady had got used to because it had turned out to be a bucket of boredom for them, except when things went wrong — and then they were scared half to death.

Reds Have Something To Prove

In the forthcoming buildup of justification for United States military activity in South Viet Nam, the central theme will be the necessity of holding the Communists at bay.

It will be the same justification used in the buildup of justification for going to the assistance of South Korea. And there needs to be examined, therefore, a further similarity.

This is the fact Chinese Communists are behind the pressure to make South Viet Nam as safe for Communism as they already have made North Viet Nam. Once more the United States will be challenging the Chinese people's republic to prove its mettle in the sight of its own neighbors.

ONCE MORE the military organization of the United States will be operating under the handicap of Asiatic misunderstanding of western motives and methods. But this time it will not have even the nominal backing of the United Nations to help justify its intercession in a brown man's war. It will be entirely on its own.

Will it have the backing of its own citizens if its military organization is surprised with another savage counterattack like the one that routed Gen. MacArthur's bold effort to drive back the Chinese Communists in the cruel winter of 1951-1952?

Is it involving itself in another frustrating "police action" that it cannot force to a successful conclusion yet cannot afford to abandon? Viet Nam could become the site of another costly U.S. garrison to maintain a truce that time must turn into a defeat for outsiders and a triumph for the natives.

THE KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION has taken a risk.

It has made an executive decision to carry out a campaign in Viet Nam in behalf of South Viet Nam forces. In effect, it has made a decision to go to war in Asia without consulting Congress.

A defeat would be as disastrous to its standing with the American people and with U.S. allies as the 1961 defeat in Cuba, though this time militarists have been put in charge and made responsible for the outcome.

The glaring omission is the absence of a legislative mandate to commit the United States to another Korea.

Viet Nam is about to come back into the news with a vengeance as Americans consider whether they are ready for a second "police action."

Choice Of Words

At times, a news item can take on varied degrees of meaning because of a questionable choice of words.

Such is the case in relation to the oboe incident which appeared in Tuesday's Review as part of the Wellsville Board of Education story.

Theodore Koenig, Wellsville High School band director, feels he was held up to ridicule by the "beatnik" approach used in the opening paragraph. Such was not the intention.

The story in no way is to be interpreted as a reflection on Mr. Koenig's character or ability to handle the duties of band director.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

President proposes Congress create corporation to speed telephone calls all over world by bouncing them off satellites to orbit 6,000 miles away. Twenty-four satellites will be in system, making it possible for Asbury Park subscriber to get Hong Kong almost as readily as Hoboken, N. J. (Probably faster.)

We had so much trouble getting phone call to a man four blocks away the other day that we are sure we could have put through call from Bird Island, Minn., to Cairo, Egypt, faster with satellite assistance.

There will be usual impatience with phone calls, no matter what the improvements are. Hoosick Falls, N. Y., subscriber will probably complain "Operator put in a call to Casablanca almost two minutes ago and haven't got it yet. What's the matter with phone service? And central will probably be telling Cicero, Ill., subscriber, "Your call to Zanzibar struck a snag on satellite No. 21," and informing irritated Cleveland, Ohio woman "On that Budapest call they don't answer."

Proposed system will also make it possible in time to televise shows around world. Think of New York being able to get David Susskind and entire panel from Manhattan Island to Budapest, "National Velvet" from Hollywood to Istanbul and Groucho Marx from California to Yokohama in twinkling of an eye!

Imagine young Dr. Malone, "Red" Skelton, Lawrence Welk, and Captain Kangeroo making leap from American program to Outer Mongolia, Saudi Arabia and Siberia almost simultaneously. (This will help world peace! ! !)

It's a wonderful age. Fellow merely phoning a man a couple of miles away may soon feel he is engaging in a minor league activity.

OHIO MAN, watching TV in living room, was hit by car crashing through home. To be safe these days a home should have bumpers front and rear, and red lights to indicate it is not in motion.

Connecticut town has won fight to have bird sanctuary spared from planned throughway. Fine, but how about action to save human sanctuaries? A man's home is his sanctuary, a place where he finds happiness and rest but he is apt to wake up any morning and find bulldozers have scooped his parlor and kitchen away and are about to demolish his bedroom and bath.

Remember away back when a man who worked only six days a week felt he was almost unemployed?

Sen. Kefauver has wound up long probe into drug industry and his intensive investigation is explained by rumor he was frightened by a pill in his boyhood.

This Time, U-Alone!

Computers Hit Middle Executives

By Victor Riesel

If the jolly little scientist-mathematician sitting across the desk from me that afternoon in 1950 at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology had not been the genius he was — and is— I'd have slunk away and telephoned the nearest mental health institute. The man of science — Prof. Norbert Wiener —had just told me that with some $2 billion, he could build a massive machine, place it at the side of an iron ore mountain so it could mine and refine the metal and then reproduce itself as a result of instructions from a series of electrical impulses.

Victor Riesel

He did not talk of this as automation—a word not yet in use. He spoke of his machine as part of a new science, cybernetics. He had invented the word. It came from the Greek "kyberneties," meaning the steersman.

THIS SCIENCE, he said, "refers to control and communication in the animal and the machine." He added that it would affect jobs and society and that he had written to many labor leaders but had received only one reply.

Now, almost 12 years later, in this Washington suburb, I thought of Wiener. For there is a plant here run by U.S. Industries, Inc., which makes robot machinery that can help reproduce itself. It has none of the massiveness of Wiener's dream.

What is startling is that this company's "TransfeRobot" is to automation what the ready-to-wear garment is to the needle trades. You can buy the robot right off the shelf.

You can take it right back to the plant with you. You can turn some gadgets, give it programming (electronic instructions) and place it on an assembly line. It will use its "arms" to assemble typewriters, watches, clocks, electrical components and automotive parts.

It will give orders to a feeder robot called "Robodyne". Then it will transmit orders to other machines like itself. Should you wish to shift it to different work in other plants or on other assembly lines, you adjust some bolts and mechanisms and it can do the new distinctly different job.

ALREADY the TransfeRobot is on the assembly lines of some 50 plants. It is, of course, replacing humans.

But it has not replaced the social consciousness and sense of community responsibility of U.S. Industries' international chief executive, John I. Snyder, Jr.

In New York the other evening we discussed his plan to tax his own company for a voluntary labor-management fund to study the impact of cybernetics, call it automation, on the people bumped by his robots. He called it "paying dues." His self-imposed tax runs from $25 to $1,000 per machine.

Mr. Snyder, who has worked closely with Al Hayes' International Association of Machinists, was concerned with the robot's impact on a social section of our land generally overlooked in the agitation over automation.

As he put it, the group he had in mind was cybernetics' forgotten men—the millions of middle management people who will be hit by automation and perhaps squeezed out of their status, their suburbia, their vast purchasing power.

Not generally realized is the thinking machine's impact on the executive and third and fourth command echelons of our communities. The gentry are being computerized. This is happening in everything from the spy business in that vast Central Intelligence compound to the warehousing of canned beans.

THE LONGHAIRS point out that the thinking machine actually helps the blue collar workers by instructing and retraining them. It helps topside executives by enabling them to automate their decisions so that machines instead of supervisory personnel carry them out. Large corporations are recentralizing in new plants.

The middle executive is getting hit. What will happen to him in the area marked by the circling of the earth by astronauts, or communications satellites creating a new industry 22,500 miles high in the skies?

This is what John Snyder wants the new fund to study. The "dues" to be paid by each machine, or call it the self-imposed tax, will pay for studies in behalf of the future of middle class people as well as the unionists who are bumped by the robot.

If ever a man needs a friend, it's the man in the gray flannel suit in middle management. Snyder and his fund now make history, for without the sturdiness of the middle the two other sides will cave in. That happened once "over there." We're still recovering.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

It's a darned funny thing—and you'd better not think about it—that when Bobby Kennedy gets booed by Communists while traveling abroad it's a chance for him to cope with bad actors but when it happened to Richard Nixon he should have known better than to go abroad in the first place.

As a matter of convenience, I keep shilling for more improvements on prepared frozen dinners and would like to see something done immediately about the fact the food sticks to the surface of the aluminum containers.

It was a pleasure to be able to plow snow for a change. All winter I had kept everything in readiness for the emergency when it came, though there was not, in truth, enough snow to make plowing worthwhile.

I have a hunch that when some of the people buzzing about George Romney learn more about his ideas they will lose their enthusiasm about boosting him into the line of succession for the White House. He is as wild as that maverick of another generation of businessmen, Herbert Hoover, who scared the pants off the standpatters of the '20s.

Every so often a couple of gents come along at the same time who seem to me to be working the same side of the street under the same evil omen, though they don't know each other—don't even live in the same country. One of them is Raoul Salan, willing to kill 80 million Frenchmen to have his way if necessary. The other one is closer to home.

I will bet anyone my dollar against their penny that if they come back in 100 years education will bear no resemblance to what we're doing now, which is not logical, clearly is not efficient and mostly is the product of mischance.

Nearly everything about Abraham Lincoln seems to me to have been cast in a tragic mold, but nothing more so than his long ordeal with a nagging wife who finally became so mentally irresponsible she was kept under professional care after the death of her long-suffering volunteer nurse-husband.

I have experienced a new dimension of frustration — being turned away in a snow flurry from the door of a house you have driven many miles to locate so you can ask the occupants to contribute to a worthy cause—and noting that the instructions on the campaign folder say to be enthusiastic at all times.

The practice of labeling everybody rightist, leftist, radical conservative, radical liberal, extremist and so on has caused so much confusion the labels are meaningless. I classify all people according to whether they respect my right to my own opinions. If not, I am against them.

It was a shock to be reminded by a recent appearance of Douglas Fairbanks Jr. on television that he looks older than Douglas Fairbanks Sr. ever looked.

GOP Bankruptcy

By David Lawrence

Republicans Fail To Meet Party Obligations

Images seem to be the political fad nowadays. Nothing illustrates so strikingly the disrupted, floundering state of the Republican party than the image of that party which is being presented to the people.

David Lawrence

Out of nowhere in politics comes a possible candidate for the Republican presidential nomination — George Romney — and he, too, makes a speech saying the image of the Republican party which the public has is not a good one. The mere fact that Mr. Romney is given so much attention — even though he has never run for office or participated in the councils of the Republican party — is evidence of the bankruptcy of the party itself. It gives the impression that it is desperately searching for miracle men — however unknown they may be — in the vague hope of finding someone to challenge President Kennedy in 1964.

The truth of the matter is that the Republican party is in virtually the same state of disorganization that the Democrats found themselves in 1928, after the election of Herbert Hoover by an overwhelming majority of electoral votes — 444 to 87. Yet the Democrats pulled themselves together and defeated Mr. Hoover for reelection only four years later — 472-59.

The principal thing wrong with the Republicans is that they do not have an articulate party but a lot off actions and blocs. They not only lack unity, they lack strategy. The Democrats from 1928 to 1932 carried on a vigorous and hard-hitting campaign of opposition. They didn't spend too much time telling what they were for, but a lot of time telling what they were against.

When would-be candidates think only of themselves — how to carry water on both shoulders, how to be both conservative liberal and radical liberal, and mostly how to blow their own horns without really getting down to the business of organizing an opposition party on basic issues—then there is not much hope of victory for them in four or eight or even 12 years.

Politically speaking, the tactic of waiting for the country to tire of an incumbent party is not enough. The opposition party in Britain today gives an example of how to help the electorate make up its mind that it is already tired of the incumbents.

Much of the fault lies in the confusion among Republicans over what they need to win a victory. The theory that all that's required is a popular personality is based on a misconception. Mr. Eisenhower won in 1952 primarily because the country was against "corruption, communism and Korea," and not just because he was popular. The way the tide was running that year, Senator Robert Taft could have won, too.

Ike won in 1956 because there economic contentment in the country and there was substantial recovery from the 1954 recession.

The country usually votes for the party in power when times are good and against it when times are bad, no matter how able the candidate may be.

BACK IN THE 1920s — to cite one of many examples — the Democratic candidate was James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, an able man, a fine speaker, and head and shoulders above the Republican candidate—Warren Harding — who was hardly known nationally. But times were bad and there was resentment against the various disturbances to the life of the country occasioned by World War I. So the nation gave Harding one of the biggest electoral majorities in many decades — 404 to 127.

Unemployment totals today are still considerable. The farm problem hasn't been solved. Exports are higher than imports every year but our margin of international payments is dangerously narrow because the government is spending and lending too many dollars abroad. Talk of devaluation of the dollar is still heard.

The Kennedy administration, moreover, is stretching its powers beyond the law in many a field and is substituting the "executive order" for the law of the land, which can only be written by Congress or the people by constitutional amendment.

The Supreme Court itself has repeatedly gone beyond the law of the land — and one can be critical of the John Birchers' extremism and still make that point.

The objectives in the civil rights controversy, for instance, are sound but the method of enforcing them is subject to criticism as beyond the Constitution. Also, the government is applying one rule to business, but no rule to labor-union monopolies. Incidentally, valuable time has been lost in floundering on the question of resuming nuclear tests.

THERE ARE DOZENS of issues which describe the discontent of the country but the Republicans aren't even organizing a conference or conclave to set forth what are the agreed-upon Republican principles.

When they have done this, it will be time to ask which candidate best fits the organized expression of the largest number of Republican voters.

The Republicans have yet to use their position in Congress effectively to publicize to the country the extent to which they believe the administration is veering from constitutional principles and sound economics.

Letters To The Editor

In reference to the "Ghosts" of the Hammondsville Bridge No. 55 train disaster:

I too like ghost stories, but will have to dispel this one. Our family has owned the land this bridge is on for over a hundred years. Some members of the family watched the railroad company salvage the engine from this wreck. However, it was true that parts of the bridge and rails were buried and could be seen at times, but four years ago when the present highway bridge was built over this area all of this debris was brought up by the Hatcher Bros. contractors and sold for junk. It was all twisted and very much rusted. So that takes care of that "ghost." Our house was a flag stop for all passenger trains as far back as 1850. We have many records of this station called "Collinwood". After this flood the railroad brought the presently used right of way from our family.

As for the wreck itself, a man named Dick Lucas, who lived near the bridge, came here and told the family the bridge was going out. Since there were no telephones, he was advised to hurry to the tower at Yellow Creek and report it. He did, but the men at the tower did not believe his story and sent no one to flag the train.

The first engine was deadheading the train in from Irondale to Wellsville. "Yockey" Maas the engineer was scalded to death. Yockey lived at 1814 Clark Ave. His sister, Joe McMullen, operated a women's apparel shop in Wellsville all her life. Tom Grafton, who runs Grafton Motors, is a son of the late Tom Grafton, the fireman who was lucky enough to get out a window of the caboose and swim to safety.

Ghosts or not, it still makes an interesting story.

In the forthcoming buildup of justification for United States military activity in South Viet Nam, the central theme will be the necessity of holding the Communists at bay.

It will be the same justification used in the buildup of justification for going to the assistance of South Korea. And there needs to be examined, therefore, a further similarity.

This is the fact Chinese Communists are behind the pressure to make South Viet Nam as safe for Communism as they already have made North Viet Nam. Once more the United States will be challenging the Chinese people's republic to prove its mettle in the sight of its own neighbors.

ONCE MORE the military organization of the United States will be operating under the handicap of Asiatic misunderstanding of western motives and methods. But this time it will not have even the nominal backing of the United Nations to help justify its intercession in a brown man's war. It will be entirely on its own.

Will it have the backing of its own citizens if its military organization is surprised with another savage counterattack like the one that routed Gen. MacArthur's bold effort to drive back the Chinese Communists in the cruel winter of 1951-1952?

Is it involving itself in another frustrating "police action" that it cannot force to a successful conclusion yet cannot afford to abandon? Viet Nam could become the site of another costly U.S. garrison to maintain a truce that time must turn into a defeat for outsiders and a triumph for the natives.

THE KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION has taken a risk.

It has made an executive decision to carry out a campaign in Viet Nam in behalf of South Viet Nam forces. In effect, it has made a decision to go to war in Asia without consulting Congress.

A defeat would be as disastrous to its standing with the American people and with U.S. allies as the 1961 defeat in Cuba, though this time militarists have been put in charge and made responsible for the outcome.

The glaring omission is the absence of a legislative mandate to commit the United States to another Korea.

Viet Nam is about to come back into the news with a vengeance as Americans consider whether they are ready for a second "police action."

Choice Of Words

At times, a news item can take on varied degrees of meaning because of a questionable choice of words.

Such is the case in relation to the oboe incident which appeared in Tuesday's Review as part of the Wellsville Board of Education story.

Theodore Koenig, Wellsville High School band director, feels he was held up to ridicule by the "beatnik" approach used in the opening paragraph. Such was not the intention.

The story in no way is to be interpreted as a reflection on Mr. Koenig's character or ability to handle the duties of band director.

By H. I. Phillips

Imagine young Dr. Malone, "Red" Skelton, Lawrence Welk, and Captain Kangeroo making leap from American program to Outer Mongolia, Saudi Arabia and Siberia almost simultaneously. (This will help world peace! ! !)

It's a wonderful age. Fellow merely phoning a man a couple of miles away may soon feel he is engaging in a minor league activity.

OHIO MAN, watching TV in living room, was hit by car crashing through home. To be safe these days a home should have bumpers front and rear, and red lights to indicate it is not in motion.

Connecticut town has won fight to have bird sanctuary spared from planned throughway. Fine, but how about action to save human sanctuaries? A man's home is his sanctuary, a place where he finds happiness and rest but he is apt to wake up any morning and find bulldozers have scooped his parlor and kitchen away and are about to demolish his bedroom and bath.

Remember away back when a man who worked only six days a week felt he was almost unemployed?

Sen. Kefauver has wound up long probe into drug industry and his intensive investigation is explained by rumor he was frightened by a pill in his boyhood.

The Once Over

President proposes Congress create corporation to speed telephone calls all over world by bouncing them off satellites to orbit 6,000 miles away. Twenty-four satellites will be in system, making it possible for Asbury Park subscriber to get Hong Kong almost as readily as Hoboken, N. J. (Probably faster.)

We had so much trouble getting phone call to a man four blocks away the other day that we are sure we could have put through call from Bird Island, Minn., to Cairo, Egypt, faster with satellite assistance.

There will be usual impatience with phone calls, no matter what the improvements are. Hoosick Falls, N. Y., subscriber will probably complain "Operator put in a call to Casablanca almost two minutes ago and haven't got it yet. What's the matter with phone service? And central will probably be telling Cicero, Ill., subscriber, "Your call to Zanzibar struck a snag on satellite No. 21," and informing irritated Cleveland, Ohio woman "On that Budapest call they don't answer."

Proposed system will also make it possible in time to televise shows around world. Think of New York being able to get David Susskind and entire panel from Manhattan Island to Budapest, "National Velvet" from Hollywood to Istanbul and Groucho Marx from California to Yokohama in twinkling of an eye!

Computers Hit Middle Executives

By Victor Riesel

If the jolly little scientist-mathematician sitting across the desk from me that afternoon in 1950 at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology had not been the genius he was — and is— I'd have slunk away and telephoned the nearest mental health institute. The man of science — Prof. Norbert Wiener —had just told me that with some $2 billion, he could build a massive machine, place it at the side of an iron ore mountain so it could mine and refine the metal and then reproduce itself as a result of instructions from a series of electrical impulses.

Victor Riesel

He did not talk of this as automation—a word not yet in use. He spoke of his machine as part of a new science, cybernetics. He had invented the word. It came from the Greek "kyberneties," meaning the steersman.

THIS SCIENCE, he said, "refers to control and communication in the animal and the machine." He added that it would affect jobs and society and that he had written to many labor leaders but had received only one reply.

Now, almost 12 years later, in this Washington suburb, I thought of Wiener. For there is a plant here run by U.S. Industries, Inc., which makes robot machinery that can help reproduce itself. It has none of the massiveness of Wiener's dream.

What is startling is that this company's "TransfeRobot" is to automation what the ready-to-wear garment is to the needle trades. You can buy the robot right off the shelf.

You can take it right back to the plant with you. You can turn some gadgets, give it programming (electronic instructions) and place it on an assembly line. It will use its "arms" to assemble typewriters, watches, clocks, electrical components and automotive parts.

It will give orders to a feeder robot called "Robodyne". Then it will transmit orders to other machines like itself. Should you wish to shift it to different work in other plants or on other assembly lines, you adjust some bolts and mechanisms and it can do the new distinctly different job.

ALREADY the TransfeRobot is on the assembly lines of some 50 plants. It is, of course, replacing humans.

But it has not replaced the social consciousness and sense of community responsibility of U.S. Industries' international chief executive, John I. Snyder, Jr.

In New York the other evening we discussed his plan to tax his own company for a voluntary labor-management fund to study the impact of cybernetics, call it automation, on the people bumped by his robots. He called it "paying dues." His self-imposed tax runs from $25 to $1,000 per machine.

Mr. Snyder, who has worked closely with Al Hayes' International Association of Machinists, was concerned with the robot's impact on a social section of our land generally overlooked in the agitation over automation.

As he put it, the group he had in mind was cybernetics' forgotten men—the millions of middle management people who will be hit by automation and perhaps squeezed out of their status, their suburbia, their vast purchasing power.

Not generally realized is the thinking machine's impact on the executive and third and fourth command echelons of our communities. The gentry are being computerized. This is happening in everything from the spy business in that vast Central Intelligence compound to the warehousing of canned beans.

THE LONGHAIRS point out that the thinking machine actually helps the blue collar workers by instructing and retraining them. It helps topside executives by enabling them to automate their decisions so that machines instead of supervisory personnel carry them out. Large corporations are recentralizing in new plants.

The middle executive is getting hit. What will happen to him in the area marked by the circling of the earth by astronauts, or communications satellites creating a new industry 22,500 miles high in the skies?

This is what John Snyder wants the new fund to study. The "dues" to be paid by each machine, or call it the self-imposed tax, will pay for studies in behalf of the future of middle class people as well as the unionists who are bumped by the robot.

If ever a man needs a friend, it's the man in the gray flannel suit in middle management. Snyder and his fund now make history, for without the sturdiness of the middle the two other sides will cave in. That happened once "over there." We're still recovering.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

It's a darned funny thing—and you'd better not think about it—that when Bobby Kennedy gets booed by Communists while traveling abroad it's a chance for him to cope with bad actors but when it happened to Richard Nixon he should have known better than to go abroad in the first place.

As a matter of convenience, I keep shilling for more improvements on prepared frozen dinners and would like to see something done immediately about the fact the food sticks to the surface of the aluminum containers.

It was a pleasure to be able to plow snow for a change. All winter I had kept everything in readiness for the emergency when it came, though there was not, in truth, enough snow to make plowing worthwhile.

I have a hunch that when some of the people buzzing about George Romney learn more about his ideas they will lose their enthusiasm about boosting him into the line of succession for the White House. He is as wild as that maverick of another generation of businessmen, Herbert Hoover, who scared the pants off the standpatters of the '20s.

Every so often a couple of gents come along at the same time who seem to me to be working the same side of the street under the same evil omen, though they don't know each other—don't even live in the same country. One of them is Raoul Salan, willing to kill 80 million Frenchmen to have his way if necessary. The other one is closer to home.

I will bet anyone my dollar against their penny that if they come back in 100 years education will bear no resemblance to what we're doing now, which is not logical, clearly is not efficient and mostly is the product of mischance.

Nearly everything about Abraham Lincoln seems to me to have been cast in a tragic mold, but nothing more so than his long ordeal with a nagging wife who finally became so mentally irresponsible she was kept under professional care after the death of her long-suffering volunteer nurse-husband.

I have experienced a new dimension of frustration — being turned away in a snow flurry from the door of a house you have driven many miles to locate so you can ask the occupants to contribute to a worthy cause—and noting that the instructions on the campaign folder say to be enthusiastic at all times.

The practice of labeling everybody rightist, leftist, radical conservative, radical liberal, extremist and so on has caused so much confusion the labels are meaningless. I classify all people according to whether they respect my right to my own opinions. If not, I am against them.

It was a shock to be reminded by a recent appearance of Douglas Fairbanks Jr. on television that he looks older than Douglas Fairbanks Sr. ever looked.

GOP Bankruptcy

By David Lawrence

Republicans Fail To Meet Party Obligations

Images seem to be the political fad nowadays. Nothing illustrates so strikingly the disrupted, floundering state of the Republican party than the image of that party which is being presented to the people.

David Lawrence

Out of nowhere in politics comes a possible candidate for the Republican presidential nomination — George Romney — and he, too, makes a speech saying the image of the Republican party which the public has is not a good one. The mere fact that Mr. Romney is given so much attention — even though he has never run for office or participated in the councils of the Republican party — is evidence of the bankruptcy of the party itself. It gives the impression that it is desperately searching for miracle men — however unknown they may be — in the vague hope of finding someone to challenge President Kennedy in 1964.

The truth of the matter is that the Republican party is in virtually the same state of disorganization that the Democrats found themselves in 1928, after the election of Herbert Hoover by an overwhelming majority of electoral votes — 444 to 87. Yet the Democrats pulled themselves together and defeated Mr. Hoover for reelection only four years later — 472-59.

The principal thing wrong with the Republicans is that they do not have an articulate party but a lot off actions and blocs. They not only lack unity, they lack strategy. The Democrats from 1928 to 1932 carried on a vigorous and hard-hitting campaign of opposition. They didn't spend too much time telling what they were for, but a lot of time telling what they were against.

When would-be candidates think only of themselves — how to carry water on both shoulders, how to be both conservative liberal and radical liberal, and mostly how to blow their own horns without really getting down to the business of organizing an opposition party on basic issues—then there is not much hope of victory for them in four or eight or even 12 years.

Politically speaking, the tactic of waiting for the country to tire of an incumbent party is not enough. The opposition party in Britain today gives an example of how to help the electorate make up its mind that it is already tired of the incumbents.

Much of the fault lies in the confusion among Republicans over what they need to win a victory. The theory that all that's required is a popular personality is based on a misconception. Mr. Eisenhower won in 1952 primarily because the country was against "corruption, communism and Korea," and not just because he was popular. The way the tide was running that year, Senator Robert Taft could have won, too.

Ike won in 1956 because there economic contentment in the country and there was substantial recovery from the 1954 recession.

The country usually votes for the party in power when times are good and against it when times are bad, no matter how able the candidate may be.

BACK IN THE 1920s — to cite one of many examples — the Democratic candidate was James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, an able man, a fine speaker, and head and shoulders above the Republican candidate—Warren Harding — who was hardly known nationally. But times were bad and there was resentment against the various disturbances to the life of the country occasioned by World War I. So the nation gave Harding one of the biggest electoral majorities in many decades — 404 to 127.

Unemployment totals today are still considerable. The farm problem hasn't been solved. Exports are higher than imports every year but our margin of international payments is dangerously narrow because the government is spending and lending too many dollars abroad. Talk of devaluation of the dollar is still heard.

The Kennedy administration, moreover, is stretching its powers beyond the law in many a field and is substituting the "executive order" for the law of the land, which can only be written by Congress or the people by constitutional amendment.

The Supreme Court itself has repeatedly gone beyond the law of the land — and one can be critical of the John Birchers' extremism and still make that point.

The objectives in the civil rights controversy, for instance, are sound but the method of enforcing them is subject to criticism as beyond the Constitution. Also, the government is applying one rule to business, but no rule to labor-union monopolies. Incidentally, valuable time has been lost in floundering on the question of resuming nuclear tests.

THERE ARE DOZENS of issues which describe the discontent of the country but the Republicans aren't even organizing a conference or conclave to set forth what are the agreed-upon Republican principles.

When they have done this, it will be time to ask which candidate best fits the organized expression of the largest number of Republican voters.

The Republicans have yet to use their position in Congress effectively to publicize to the country the extent to which they believe the administration is veering from constitutional principles and sound economics.

Letters To The Editor

In reference to the "Ghosts" of the Hammondsville Bridge No. 55 train disaster:

I too like ghost stories, but will have to dispel this one. Our family has owned the land this bridge is on for over a hundred years. Some members of the family watched the railroad company salvage the engine from this wreck. However, it was true that parts of the bridge and rails were buried and could be seen at times, but four years ago when the present highway bridge was built over this area all of this debris was brought up by the Hatcher Bros. contractors and sold for junk. It was all twisted and very much rusted. So that takes care of that "ghost." Our house was a flag stop for all passenger trains as far back as 1850. We have many records of this station called "Collinwood". After this flood the railroad brought the presently used right of way from our family.

As for the wreck itself, a man named Dick Lucas, who lived near the bridge, came here and told the family the bridge was going out. Since there were no telephones, he was advised to hurry to the tower at Yellow Creek and report it. He did, but the men at the tower did not believe his story and sent no one to flag the train.

The first engine was deadheading the train in from Irondale to Wellsville. "Yockey" Maas the engineer was scalded to death. Yockey lived at 1814 Clark Ave. His sister, Joe McMullen, operated a women's apparel shop in Wellsville all her life. Tom Grafton, who runs Grafton Motors, is a son of the late Tom Grafton, the fireman who was lucky enough to get out a window of the caboose and swim to safety.

Ghosts or not, it still makes an interesting story.

valley's labor costs are higher than those in many parts of the U. S., which in turn are more than twice as much as those in the European Common Market, he said. Building costs also are high and transportation difficulties arise out of "crooked roads, inadequate highway systems and limited rail service," he said.

Meeting Competition

Increased efficiency is the only answer to the foreign competition which already has put several plants in the valley out of business, Dr. Gresham said.

"This is an enormous challenge to the ingenuity of American business," he said. "The time has come when labor as well as management must seriously consider ways of keeping costs down if we are to hold our present share of the world market. . . ."

Babb outlined a four-point series of objecitves for the Chamber in 1962:

"1. To work for the interest of area business and industry and continue our efforts to secure more sound business and industry for the area.

Improving Of Area

"2. Work for the improvement of the area in general and to encourage the solution of our local problems through voluntary organized action.

"3. Through better communication within our Chamber, strive to equip and encourage businessmen and others to be better informed, more active and more responsible citizens.

"4. To emphasize the worth and dignity of the individual, to strive to create a better business climate and to promote a better understanding of our free enterprise system."

Committee chairmen for the new year also were announced. They are:

J. Herbert Thompson, agriculture and conservation; John Pinney, banquet; Charles Taylor, business relations; J. Norman Nicely, civic and community affairs; Atty. Francis H. Lang, highways; Dean Wilhelm, manufacturers' council.

of Chester phoned the East Liverpool department and reported a telephone had been damaged there.

He had obtained most of the digits and letters on the license number — the first letter and the next three numbers. But the last number and letter were unknown on the Ohio plate. He also had obtained the make of the car—a Ford—which narrrowed the search considerably.

At Chester, police said the men vandalized a sidewalk telephone booth at Ludovici Pontiac Sales, 6th St. and Carolina Ave.

Then at 5:30 a. m., East Liverpool police were notified by Louis Campbell, 1464 Trentvale St., that a telephone in a booth at the Grafton Grocery, 1300 Dresden Ave., had been broken into.

Shortly after receiving the telephone call from the Chester department, East Liverpool officers had started a search of the Bureau of Motor Vehicle records, listing the registration numbers of all autos in this area. They narrowed the possibilities to two cars.

The local officers notified the sheriff's department of their findings. The sheriff's office advised that the adult and two juveniles had been picked up in a similar car at 3 a.m.

The license number the local police worked with was L-123, then a missing number and letter.

Later this morning, Chester police discovered damage to a pay phone at the Chaney Service Station at Carolina Ave. and 8th St. Neither phone's coin box was broken into and no money was missing, Officer Lennens said. The hook holding the receiver was broken in both cases, he said.

Lt. Clyde W. Boso of the local department pointed out that the co-operation between the two area departments and the sheriff's office helped complete the case against the three suspects.

Sheriff VanFossan said interrogation of the three is continuing and no formal charges have been filed.

BETWEEN THE APOTHECARY AND TODAY'S PHARMACIST

Pharmacists are now authorities on thousands of modern drugs that were unknown in grandfather's day

When you consider the countless thousands of drugs that have been discovered since penicillin, the vast difference between today's modern pharmacy and the apothecary shop of long ago is sharply pointed up.
Today's druggist not only compounds and fills prescriptions—as a recognized authority on drugs, their uses and effect, he also dispenses the many new miracle medicines that banish pain and often save lives.

BETWEEN THE APOTHECARY AND TODAY'S PHARMACIST

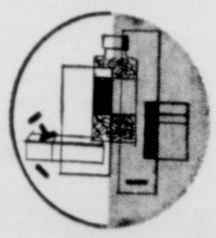

Pharmacists are now authorities on thousands of modern drugs that were unknown in grandfather's day

When you consider the countless thousands of drugs that have been discovered since penicillin, the vast difference between today's modern pharmacy and the apothecary shop of long ago is sharply pointed up.

Today's druggist not only compounds and fills prescriptions—as a recognized authority on drugs, their uses and effect, he also dispenses the many new miracle medicines that banish pain and often save lives.

500 Are On Hand For Auction Of Mahoning Firm

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Milton J. Wershow Co. said 500 persons from 30 states were on hand for the first day of the sale of assets of Youngstown Steel Car Corp.

A Wershow spokesman declined to say how much money was realized from the sale. However, an unofficial estimated based on Wednesday's auction was that total proceeds of the two - day sale would come to about $1 million.

A hearing on the USW action is scheduled in U.S. District Court Monday. The hearing originally was scheduled for Friday, but it was postponed because of illness in the family of Judge Frank J. Battisti.

Judge Arranges 'Reunion' In Jail

"I think it's about time you had a reunion at County Jail with your friends — that's where all of them are," Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented to a city man today in imposing a fine of $100 and costs on an intoxication charge filed under state law.

The defendant was Raymond (Sarge) Franklin, who pointed out to the court he returned to East Liverpool only a few days ago after an absence of three months. He has been a frequent offender on intoxication charges. Franklin was arrested at 8:40 p. m. Tuesday after a custodian found him asleep in the furnace room at City Hall, police said.

Asked about his absence, Franklin told the judge he worked three weeks in a store operated by an Akron church mission. He said he left because "I worked 12 or 14 hours a day for one meal and a place to sleep, but no money—they wouldn't even give me a dime for a package of tobacco."

Little Westminster Rises To Upset Duquesne, 63-61

Miami (O.) Defeats Pitt On Same Card

By The Associated Press

Oh, the embarrassment of it all. Or, how the mighty do fall.

Duquesne, rated among the nation's very best major college basketball teams, suffered what must have been the supreme ignominy Wednesday night—losing not only to a decided underdog, but to a decided underdog from the small school ranks.

Westminster of New Wilmington, Pa., pulled off the stunner at the Pitt Field House in Pittsburgh, outlasting the Dukes 63-61. The Titans, listed No. 6 in The Associated Press small college ratings, went in front at the midway mark in the first half and led by 32-22 at intermission.

Duquesne pressed repeatedly in the second half but the Titans had enough scramble to hold on for the whopping triumph. For Westminster, it was the 15th victory in 17 games—it's losses were to Pitt and St. Francis (Pa.)—while the loss was the fourth in 20 starts for the ninth-ranked Dukes. Five Westminster players scored in double figures, led by Wallace Sallade's 15 points. Willie Somerset had 21 for Duquesne.

The game was part of a doubleheader. In the opener Miami (Ohio) trimmed Pitt 75-72.

North Carolina State gained a measure of revenge against North Carolina, blasting the Tar Heels 85-57 at Raleigh. The Wolfpack, who'd been beaten five straight times by North Carolina, improved its Atlantic Coast Conference mark to 8-3, remaining third behind Duke (9-2) and Wake Forest (8-2).

Virginia Tech's Gobblers continued on their home winning tear, coming from 11 points behind at the half and overcoming VMI 85-71 in the Southern Conference.

Xavier (Ohio) zipped from six points back with an early second half spurt, fought off two Louisville rallies, and handed the Colonels their third loss in a row, 79-67. Navy (13-5) scored its 10th successive victory, 77-50 over Rutgers. Air Force, flying toward a possible tournament berth, won its 13th in 16 games with a 75-44 romp over Colorado College.

In a doubleheader at the Philadelphia Palestra, Temple built up a 42-20 bulge at halftime and coasted in against Penn 79-60 after LaSalle, had bumped Canisius 73-63.

Martins Ferry Brings 10-6 Record Here For Tilt With Potters Friday

Martins Ferry, a traditional basketball rival of the East Liverpool Potters has had its ups and downs this season, but against stiff competition.

The Purple Riders, who are East Liverpool's only opponent this week, will invade Memorial Auditorium Friday night.

Coach Ed McGlumphy, in his fourth season at Ferry, has seen his team win 10 games while losing 6. The defeats have been at the hands of Farrel, Bill Laughlin's Washington squad, Bellaire, Linsly, Steubenville Big Red and Wheeling.

Leading the Riders here will be Bob Wacker, a 6-foot-1 senior letterman, who is averaging 19 points a game. The 1961-62 edition of the Riders shows a lot of balance. Two other letter-winners on the starting five are Bob Scheehle, 6-foot-3 senior, and Larry Duck, who stands 5-foot-11.

Wacker does most of his scoring inside and from the corner.

Scheele is the team's chief rebounder, while Rose, an All-Ohio fullback in football, can shoot well from outside and is an excellent driver.

Rounding out the starting unit is another all-Ohio football player from Ferry's undefeated team of last season. He is Vic Rose, a 5-foot-9 senior. The other starter is Larry Green, 5-foot-10 senior.

The chief substitutes used by McGlumphy are Larry Fish, a 5-foot-11 senior, and Terry Williams, who stands 6-foot-1.

East Liverpool, after dropping another close battle to Canton Central last Saturday, stands in with a 6-8 record.

A DRAMATIC MOMENT in the bullring catches bullfighter Luis Segura of Madrid being upended during fight in Mexico City's Plaza de Toros. Although seriously injured, Segura was able to get back on his feet to kill the bull. Segura suffered a fracture of the spine. (UPI Telephoto)

Wagman Indicted On Bribe Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A grand jury has indicted Aaron Wagman, 28, of New York, key figure in last year's college basketball point-shaving scandals, on charges of bribing four Philadelphia players.

The grand jury returned the indictments Wednesday after the appearance of former college players John Egan and Frank Majewski of St. Joseph's and Ed Bowler of LaSalle. The three were named last April 27 as participants in the fixes allegedly involving $7,500.

A fourth player accused of being involved, Vince Kempton, of St. Joseph's, was unable to appear because of injuries suffered recently in an auto accident.

Eight of nine counts accused Wagman of fixing several games played between Dec. 10, 1959, and Jan. 4, 1960, on the Palestra. The other count charged conspiracy.

All four players were dismissed from school last year. Paul M. Chalfin, assistant district attorney said they will not be prosecuted.

Wagman, a salesman, is in New York awaiting sentencing March 14 on his plea of guilty to 38 counts of conspiracy and bribery in connection with the scandals.

Bids To Televise Grid Games Hit $10 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—A hefty bid of $10 million or even more was expected to be made in the National Collegiate Athletic Association today for the rights to televise Saturday afternoon college football games for the next two years, The Associated Press learned today.

The bids will be made by "all interested parties", generally regarded to mean the three major broadcasting networks. Each will submit its price to the NCAA television committee in a sealed envelope, and there will be no chance to change them once submitted.

The committee was expected to award the contract after the bids are opened in private session and considered.

The American Broadcasting Co., which is expected to get stiff competition from the National Broadcasting Co., will try to retain the prize sportscasting plum it has held for the past two years. ABC paid over $6 million for the rights for 1960-61.

A darkhorse bidder is the Columbia Broadcasting System, which just recently signed to televise all of the National Football League games in a $9.3 millions package. A successful bid by CBS would be a major coup for it would enable the network to tie up two-thirds of the major football broadcasting.

But NBC is expected to pull all stops to get the games, since it has no football television at all, with the exception of some postseason games. It lost the NFL rights to the games of Baltimore and Pittsburgh when CBS was awarded its package deal. It was reliably reported that price would be no object in the network's desire to bid successfully.

All Bucs Signed For 1962 Season

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates expect to have a group of contented baseball players on hand when their regular 40-man squad reports to Fort Myers, Fla., for spring training in 10 days.

All the Pirates have indicated they are satisfied with the contract terms offered them for the 1962 season, which they hope will hold better results for them than did the 1961 campaign.

Pittsburgh completed the signing of its roster when veteran outfielder Bob Skinner and rookie pitcher Larry Foss agreed to terms Wednesday. The Pirates became the second major league club to sign all its players, the Chicago Cubs being the first to do so.

The signings tapered off a bit Wednesday but nevertheless there were several noteworthy contract acceptances. Southpaw hurler Jim O'Toole, a 19-game winner last year, became the 28th member of the National League pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds to sign.

Other signings included outfielder Willie Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers; veteran pitcher Hal Brown and rookie outfielder John Powell of the Baltimore Orioles; pitchers Allen Brice and Russ Kemmerer, infielder Sam Esposito and outfielder Ken Berry of the Chicago White Sox; rookie pitcher Dennis Ribant and first-year catcher Bob Uecker, who brought the Milwaukee Braves' satisfied list to 28, and pitchers Joe Schaffernoth and Carl Bouldin and outfielder Joe Hicks, giving the Washington Senators 28 players under contract.

Nominations Close Tonight For Racing's Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Nominations close tonight at midnight for the rich Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown races for 3-year-old horses. For an initial payment of $300 a lucky owner could realize a return of some $350,000.

Nominations to the three great classics are separate, cost $100 apiece and must be postmarked no later than midnight to be acceptable.

A year ago Cary Back was winning the rich ones in Florida, including the Flamingo at Hialeah and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream. Four-and-Twenty was the big shot in the Far West with his Santa Anita Derby Triumph. These winter races also are $100,000-plus affairs.

Now the owners of Crimson Satan, the 2-year-old champion of 1961, Sir Gaylord, Ridan, Dead Ahead, Admiral's Voyage, Cyane, Donut King and many others are writing checks and getting postage ready. It's an expensive business, this nomination ritual, but it can pay off large.

The $125,000-added Kentucky Derby, 1¼ miles at Churchill Downs, Louisville, starts the triple shindig May 5. Then they go to Baltimore for the $150,000-added Preakness over 1 3-16 miles at Pimlico, May 19. The final stop on the triple crown merry-go-round is the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at 1½ miles at New York's Belmont Park June 9.

Student Dies Playing In Pickup Game

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)— A Wittenberg University honor student collapsed and died while playing in a pickup basketball game Wednesday night.

Terry K. Bishop, 21, of Wooster, couldn't resist the lure of the basketball court despite a congenital heart defect. He died of a heart attack in the campus fieldhouse.

Frank Maurer of the Wittenberg coaching staff administered mouth to mouth resuscitaion in a vain life-saving effort until fire department emergency squadmen arrived. They took Bishop to Mercy Hospital, but he never revived despite another four and a half hours of efforts.

University authorities said Bishop had a history of congenital heart trouble, and that he had been disapproved for intramural athletics. Bishop had been planning to undergo surgery in Cleveland this summer, hoping to have the ailment cured.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bishop of Wooster.

Rule Which Caused Irish, Syracuse Battle Amended

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The football rule which caused a controversy in Notre Dame's 17-15 victory over Syracuse last year has been amended to allow a penalty and another play—extension of the game—for running into or roughing the kicker on the last play.

Dave Nelson, University of Delaware coach, and Elwood Geiges, a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association rules committee, announced Wednesday the amended rule has been approved by the NCAA and is in the process of being inserted into the official football rules book.

The two were assigned to adjust the rule which was felt to be inequitable as it read.

In effect, Notre Dame, under the amended rule, would get an extra play just as it did on the controversial play under the same circumstances.

'61 Seniors Champ Leads First Round

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Charlie Sheppard of Pittsfield, Mass., was determined to protect his lead in the PGA Seniors Golf Championship with the start of the second round today.

His opening day 66 held up against the oncharging younger contingent Wednesday. Jimmy Demaret of Houston and John Barnum of Belmont, Mich., came close with 67 each.

Today the 55 and over age group came back for the second round. The 50-54 bunch gets its chance again Friday. Then, whatever their ages, the low 125 and ties will play the final rounds Saturday and Sunday for the championship of the 72-hole event.

"I'm not afraid of any of them," said the 55-year-old Sheppard.

As expected, the 50-54 age group fattened the number of subpar scores to 31 after the entire field of 392 had completed the first round.

Defending champion Paul Runyan of La Jolla, Calif., was almost lost in the shuffle with a one-under-par 71—the results of what he termed a nervous round.

Another 71 — E.J. (Dutch) Harrison of San Francisco, is expected to improve and be a contender in his first seniors.

Dark Points To Pitching As Frisco's Bright Spot

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—The Giants lost some very good players in the National League expansion draft that stocked the rosters of the new Houston and New York clubs. Sam Jones, Hobie Landrith, Joe Amalfitano and Eddie Bressoud were among them.

However, I feel that the deals we made since the close of the 1961 season plus our farm system additions will permit us to fill the gaps. Billy Pierce and Don Larsen should beef up our pitching. I am counting on Pierce as one of our starters.

We have more pitchers of major league caliber than most clubs. Our holdovers include Juan Marichal, Mike McCormick, Jack Sanford, Billy O'Dell, Stu Miller and Jim Duffalo.

In addition, three of our brightest prospects are pitchers. They are Gaylord Perry, Ron Herbel and Gerry Thomas. Perry led the Pacific Coast League in earned run average while Herbel won 16 games in the same league and Thomas picked up 20 victories in the Eastern League.

We're set with Orlando Cepeda at first base, Jose Pagan at short and Jimmy Davenport at third. Willie McCovey should be helpful when we need him at first base.

Second base is wide open. I'm hoping that Charlie Hiller will fill the bill.

We didn't lose any power when we obtained Pierce and Larsen. I look for Willie Mays to hit more than the 40 homers he had in 1961 and for Cepeda to match his performance of last season when he slammed 46 home runs.

Mays, the Alou brothers, Felipe and Matty, and Harvey Kuenn are out outfielders. Kuenn hit only .265 last year, but we all know he has the ability to improve that average by 40 or 50 points. The same goes for catcher Ed Bailey, who batted only .245.

I expect Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Los Angeles to be contenders. If our pitching improves as much as I expect, the Giants will be right up there with them.

Littler Rates Favorite In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Big money winner Gene Littler is rated the man to beat in the $20,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament which starts today.

But Littler is expected to be pressed all the way by one of the most evenly matched fields of the tour.

Six of the 10 men who have collected the most cash this winter are missing—Arnold Palmer, Tommy Jacobs, Doug Ford, Bill Casper, Don January and Jay Hebert.

Former PGA champ Lionel Hebert says the absence of the major money winners will make this one of the most exciting tournaments of the campaign.

Hebert won the Tucson event in 1958, Little in 1959. So far this year Littler has earned $14,186.66, Hebert $2,655.

The 6,484-yard, par 35-35—70 El Rio Golf and Country Club layout is an easy course for the men who excel with short irons and the putter.

Cleveland, New York Take Over ABL Leads

By The Associated Press

For more than a month Pittsburgh and Chicago exchanged places at the top of the Eastern Division in the American Basketball League. Today it's New York and Cleveland tied for the top.

Chicago fell out of first Wednesday night by running afoul of the Kansas City Steers, Western Division leaders, at Wichita, Kan. The Steers won 109-104 for their sixth straight.

Cleveland, Eastern Division first half winners, reached the top for the first time during the second half by beating Hawaii 115-103 at New Castle, Pa. They were the only games played.

Reds Sign O'Toole, Winner Of 19 Games

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pitcher Jim O'Toole, 19-game winner for Cincinnati's National League champs last year, has signed up for 1962. The southpaw lost only nine games and had a 3.09 earned-run average.

The team Wednesday also reported signing David Livesey of Landsdale, Pa., to a contract.

New Father Rolls Hot 653 At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Amateur bowler Sonny Fannely took his wife, Shirley, to the hospital to have a baby Wednesday night, then bowled a hot 653 — good enough to boost his team, with a 1,362 total, into first place in the Professional Bowlers Association pro-amateur event.

The pro-amateur was a warm-up for a $25,000 PBA tournament which starts today.

The Akron amateur, who carries a 172 average in league bowling, said he had to take his wife to City Hospital a half hour before bowling. "There was nothing else I could do," Fannely said. "Every time I heard the phone ring I got shook up."

The shaking up resulted in the best series the 27-year-old Fannely has posted in five years of bowling and will give him $400 toward expenses for the new arrival.

High-Flying Hawks Near Second In NHL

By The Associated Press

The high-flying Chicago Black Hawks, defending Stanley Cup champions, have closed to within striking distance of second place in the National Hockey League after a slow start.

The Hawks avenged a Saturday defeat by New York that snapped their six-game winning streak with a 4-3 victory over the Rangers in Chicago Wednesday night. It was the only NHL game played.

The triumph enabled Chicago to move within five points of the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs. The Hawks also opened a 10-point lead over the fourth-place Rangers, who had their four-game unbeaten string broken.

McGill Holds Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy McGill of Utah, the nation's top major college basketball scorer, passed two big marks last week.

The 6-foot-9 Utah center hit his personal career high with 53 points against Montana Saturday night and at the same time became the 12th collegian to bag a three-year total of 2,000.

McGill's average this season is 36.9 on 733 points in 20 games through Tuesday night, according to the NCAA Service Bureau. His career total stands at 2,050.

Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, No. 2 in scoring, dropped off a bit to 33.2. Jack Foley of Holy Cross is next at 31.8.

In games through last Saturday, Ohio State's Jerry Lucas leads in field goal accuracy with a percentage of 64.5.

Little Westminister Rises To Upset Duquesne, 63-61

Miami (O.) Defeats Pitt On Same Card

By The Associated Press

Oh, the embarrassment of it all. Or, how the mighty do fall.

Duquesne, rated among the nation's very best major college basketball teams, suffered what must have been the supreme ignominy Wednesday night—losing not only to a decided underdog, but to a decided underdog from the small school ranks.

Westminster of New Wilmington, Pa., pulled off the stunner at the Pitt Field House in Pittsburgh, outlasting the Dukes 63-61. The Titans, listed No. 6 in The Associated Press small college ratings, went in front at the midway mark in the first half and led by 32-22 at intermission.

Duquesne pressed repeatedly in the second half but the Titans had enough scramble to hold on for the whopping triumph. For Westminster, it was the 15th victory in 17 games—it's losses were to Pitt and St. Francis (Pa.)—while the loss was the fourth in 20 starts for the ninth-ranked Dukes. Five Westminster players scored in double figures, led by Wallace Sallade's 15 points. Willie Somerset had 21 for Duquesne.

The game was part of a double-header. In the opener Miami (Ohio) trimmed Pitt 75-72.

North Carolina State gained a measure of revenge against North Carolina, blasting the Tar Heels 85-57 at Raleigh. The Wolfpack, who'd been beaten five straight times by North Carolina, improved its Atlantic Coast Conference mark to 8-3, remaining third behind Duke (9-2) and Wake Forest (8-2).

Virginia Tech's Gobblers continued on their home winning tear, coming from 11 points behind at the half and overcoming VMI 85-71 in the Southern Conference.

Xavier (Ohio) zipped from six points back with an early second half spurt, fought off two Louisville rallies, and handed the Colonels their third loss in a row, 79-67. Navy (13-5) scored its 10th successive victory, 77-50 over Rutgers. Air Force, flying toward a possible tournament berth, won its 13th in 16 games with a 75-44 romp over Colorado College.

In a doubleheader at the Philadelphia Palestra, Temple built up a 42-20 bulge at halftime and coasted in against Penn 79-60 after LaSalle, had bumped Canisius 73-63.

Martins Ferry Brings 10-6 Record Here For Tilt With Potters Friday

Martins Ferry, a traditional basketball rival of the East Liverpool Potters has had its ups and downs this season, but against stiff competition.

The Purple Riders, who are East Liverpool's only opponent this week, will invade Memorial Auditorium Friday night.

Coach Ed McGlumphy, in his fourth season at Ferry, has seen his team win 10 games while losing 6. The defeats have been at the hands of Farrel, Bill Laughlin's Washington squad, Bellaire, Linsly, Steubenville Big Red and Wheeling.

Leading the Riders here will be Bob Wacker, a 6-foot-1 senior letterman, who is averaging 19 points a game. The 1961-62 edition of the Riders shows a lot of balance. Two other letter-winners on the starting five are Bob Scheehle, 6-foot-3 senior, and Larry Duck, who stands 5-foot-11.

Wacker does most of his scoring inside and from the corner.

Scheele is the team's chief rebounder, while Rose, an All-Ohio fullback in football, can shoot well from outside and is an excellent driver.

Rounding out the starting unit is another all-Ohio football player from Ferry's undefeated team of last season. He is Vic Rose, a 5-foot-9 senior. The other starter is Larry Green, 5-foot-10 senior.

The chief substitutes used by McGlumphy are Larry Fish, a 5-foot-11 senior, and Terry Williams, who stands 6-foot-1.

East Liverpool, after dropping another close battle to Canton Central last Saturday, stands in with a 6-8 record.

Wagman Indicted On Bribe Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A grand jury has indicted Aaron Wagman, 28, of New York, key figure in last year's college basketball point-shaving scandals, on charges of bribing four Philadelphia players.

The grand jury returned the indictments Wednesday after the appearance of former college players John Egan and Frank Majewski of St. Joseph's and Ed Bowler of LaSalle. The three were named last April 27 as participants in the fixes allegedly involving $7,500.

A fourth player accused of being involved, Vince Kempton, of St. Joseph's, was unable to appear because of injuries suffered recently in an auto accident.

Eight of nine counts accused Wagman of fixing several games played between Dec. 10, 1959, and Jan. 4, 1960, on the Palestra. The other count charged conspiracy.

All four players were dismissed from school last year. Paul M. Chalfin, assistant district attorney said they will not be prosecuted.

Wagman, a salesman, is in New York awaiting sentencing March 14 on his plea of guilty to 38 counts of conspiracy and bribery in connection with the scandals.

Bids To Televise Grid Games Hit $10 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—A hefty bid of $10 million or even more was expected to be made in the National Collegiate Athletic Association today for the rights to televise Saturday afternoon college football games for the next two years, The Associated Press learned today.

The bids will be made by "all interested parties", generally regarded to mean the three major broadcasting networks. Each will submit its price to the NCAA television committee in a sealed envelope, and there will be no chance to change them once submitted.

The committee was expected to award the contract after the bids are opened in private session and considered.

The American Broadcasting Co., which is expected to get stiff competition from the National Broadcasting Co., will try to retain the prize sportscasting plum it has held for the past two years. ABC paid over $6 million for the rights for 1960-61.

A darkhorse bidder is the Columbia Broadcasting System, which just recently signed to televise all of the National Football League games in a $9.3 millions package. A successful bid by CBS would be a major coup for it would enable the network to tie up two-thirds of the major football broadcasting.

But NBC is expected to pull all stops to get the games, since it has no football television at all, with the exception of some post-season games. It lost the NFL rights to the games of Baltimore and Pittsburgh when CBS was awarded its package deal. It was reliably reported that price would be no object in the network's desire to bid successfully.

All Bucs Signed For 1962 Season

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates expect to have a group of contented baseball players on hand when their regular 40-man squad reports to Fort Myers, Fla., for spring training in 10 days.

All the Pirates have indicated they are satisfied with the contract terms offered them for the 1962 season, which they hope will hold better results for them than did the 1961 campaign.

Pittsburgh completed the signing of its roster when veteran outfielder Bob Skinner and rookie pitcher Larry Foss agreed to terms Wednesday. The Pirates became the second major league club to sign all its players, the Chicago Cubs being the first to do so.

The signings tapered off a bit Wednesday but nevertheless there were several noteworthy contract acceptances. Southpaw hurler Jim O'Toole, a 19-game winner last year, became the 28th member of the National League pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds to sign.

Other signings included outfielder Willie Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers; veteran pitcher Hal Brown and rookie outfielder John Powell of the Baltimore Orioles; pitchers Allen Brice and Russ Kemmerer, infielder Sam Esposito and outfielder Ken Berry of the Chicago White Sox; rookie pitcher Dennis Ribant and first-year catcher Bob Uecker, who brought the Milwaukee Braves' satisfied list to 28, and pitchers Joe Schaffernoth and Carl Bouldin and outfielder Joe Hicks, giving the Washington Senators 28 players under contract.

The high-flying Chicago Black Hawks, defending Stanley Cup champions, have closed to within striking distance of second place in the National Hockey League after a slow start.

The Hawks avenged a Saturday defeat by New York that snapped their six-game winning streak with a 4-3 victory over the Rangers in Chicago Wednesday night. It was the only NHL game played.

The triumph enabled Chicago to move within five points of the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs. The Hawks also opened a 10-point lead over the fourth-place Rangers, who had their four-game unbeaten string broken.

Glenn's Parents' Enthusiasm For Trip Undimmed

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—The enthusiasm of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s parents for their son's trip into space remained undimmed today despite the ninth postponement.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr. had planned to arise early once again to watch the scheduled blast-off at Cape Canaveral. But late Wednesday night the shot was postponed again until Friday. They have three television sets in their living room so they can watch all three network programs covering the event.

Still with them in their home are Mrs. Glenn's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thompson of Cambridge, and the Thompsons' son, Maj. Robert Thompson of Wright - Patterson Air Force Base.

The corps of newsmen and cameramen which has tried to keep a space vigil with the parents was fewer in number than before the recent postponements. But many remained, along with TV network personnel.

As for the little village itself, on U.S. 40 halfway between Columbus, Ohio, and Wheeling, W. Va., there was no visible lessening of interest in the flight. Just about everyone in town plans to watch the blast-off, when it finally comes, including children in the schools which Lt. Col. Glenn attended as a boy.

Insurance Ruling Cited On Animals Striking Autos

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Automobile Underwriters Association ruled Wednesday that all animals striking cars will be regarded as "in flight" and damage will be paid in full under comprehensive auto insurance coverage.

In the past, it was up to the claims adjuster to decide whether an animal which landed on a car had all of its feet off the ground, and could be said to be "flying," or whether the animal had its feet on the ground at the moment of impact.

If the adjuster decided the animal jumped in the air, it was a "falling or flying object" and damage was paid in full.

But if the man decided the animal had its feet on the ground, the accident was a "collision," and the damage was paid under the $50 or $100 deductible clauses.

In the Bible, it is said the meek shall inherit the earth.

Glenn's Parents' Enthusiasm For Trip Undimmed

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP)—The enthusiasm of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s parents for their son's trip into space remained undimmed today despite the ninth postponement.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr. had planned to arise early once again to watch the scheduled blast-off at Cape Canaveral. But late Wednesday night the shot was postponed again until Friday. They have three television sets in their living room so they can watch all three network programs covering the event.

Still with them in their home are Mrs. Glenn's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thompson of Cambridge, and the Thompsons' son, Maj. Robert Thompson of Wright - Patterson Air Force Base.

The corps of newsmen and cameramen which has tried to keep a space vigil with the parents was fewer in number than before the recent postponements. But many remained, along with TV network personnel.

As for the little village itself, on U.S. 40 halfway between Columbus, Ohio, and Wheeling, W. Va., there was no visible lessening of interest in the flight. Just about everyone in town plans to watch the blast-off, when it finally comes, including children in the schools which Lt. Col. Glenn attended as a boy.

Insurance Ruling Cited On Animals Striking Autos

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Automobile Underwriters Association ruled Wednesday that all animals striking cars will be regarded as "in flight" and damage will be paid in full under comprehensive auto insurance coverage.

In the past, it was up to the claims adjuster to decide whether an animal which landed on a car had all of its feet off the ground, and could be said to be "flying," or whether the animal had its feet on the ground at the moment of impact.

If the adjuster decided the animal jumped in the air, it was a "falling or flying object" and damage was paid in full.

But if the man decided the animal had its feet on the ground, the accident was a "collision," and the damage was paid under the $50 or $100 deductible clauses.

In the Bible, it is said the meek shall inherit the earth.

Ex-Gov. Kump Of West Virginia Claimed At 84

ELKINS, W. Va. (AP) — Former Gov. Herman Guy Kump, who steered West Virginia through the bleak economic crisis of the Great Depression, died Wednesday at his home. He was 84.

Kump underwent surgery at Davis Memorial Hospital here Dec. 28, 1961 for an intestinal tumor, 11 days after being admitted. However, he was discharged Jan. 19, 1962 and returned home.

A Democrat, Kump took office on March 4, 1933, having defeated Republican Thomas C. Townsend of Charleston by a plurality of 59,665 votes. His tenure coincided with the first administration of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In the four years, Kump presided over the return of West Virginia from near-bankruptcy to relative fiscal health. By the time he left Charleston to return to his home here, an unemployment compensation law, legislation creating a Department of Public Assistance and the 2-per-cent consumers' sales tax were on the books.

The state personal income tax also was passed during his administration.

It was repealed nine years later, but came to life again in 1961 in a revised form.

Kump was a happy man when by January, 1935, he was able to report to the Legislature that the state had "transformed a cruel deficit into a surplus."

After leaving the executive mansion, he tried twice to win a seat in the U.S. Senate but lost both times in the Democratic primary. The late Sen. Harley M. Kilgore defeated him in 1940. Two years later he lost to the late Sen. Matthew M. Neely.

Missing Professor Turns Up As Factory Employe

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—A pigment grinder in a paint factory, Verne Hansen, refused to talk today about his life as Dr. Carl Vernon Holmberg, a Syracuse University professor who disappeared in 1955.

Hansen, 45, who works as a $1.90-an-hour laborer, was identified as the missing chemistry professor through a routine FBI fingerprint check.

Dr. Holmberg, a native of Sandpoint, Idaho, was married and the father of three boys when he was reported missing in Syracuse May 11, 1955. University officials at the time expressed fear he was an amnesia victim.

The gaunt, bespectacled Hansen was informed at the Rockford Paint Manufacturing Co. Wednesday of the identification linking him to the professor.

"It seems rather incredible," he said, appearing dismayed. "I do not see how a man can break off one life and start another. I don't know what I'm going to do now."

Hansen said his earliest recollection is that a motorist gave him a lift from Elgin, Ill., to Rockford sometime in 1955. He was wearing a business suit. He had a few dollars, but no personal identification except an empty briefcase with the initials VH on it.

He said he decided to call himself Verne Hansen.

After giving newsmen the slip for several hours Wednesday night Hansen locked himself in his room in a second-class, downtown Rockford hotel.

The professor's wife, Dorothy, moved to California with her three sons—Carl, 18; Lee, 11, and Richard, 9—and divorced Holmberg two years ago. Last year she married Gordon Babcock, a consulting electronics engineer, and the family lives in Menlo Park.

Fairfield And Unity Groups Will Convene

LISBON — "Styles for Different Figures" will be presented at meetings of three Columbiana County Home Demonstration groups Tuesday, according to Miss Julia Shank of the county extension service.

The Fairfield Friendly Neighbors and the Columbiana Homemakers will meet from 10:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Boyd Knight of County Rd. 421. Mrs. Richard Rhodes and Mrs. Robert Montgomery will be leaders.

The Unity Township Mothers Study group will meet at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Thelma Adams. Mrs. Dorothy Papania and Mrs. Agnes Webber will be leaders.

Hearing Is Scheduled Interstate Road Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Highway Department will conduct a public hearing in Richfield, Summit County, next Wednesday on an 18-mile interstate highway traffic relief route. The proposed project would cost about $27.5 million.

The four-lane divided, limited access road—part of Interstate 271—would be in Medina and Summit counties. Beginning at Interstate 71 (Medina Freeway), it would run northeast to Ohio 8. This would form part of a continuous route between Interstate 71 and Interstate 90 running toward the New York Thruway.

The new stretch would pass east of Cleveland's congested traffic area.

Pittsburgh Coal Firm Buys Chrysler Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — George H. Love, chairman of both Consolidation Coal Co. and Crysler Corp., confirmed Wednesday published reports that the Pittsburgh coal firm has purchased about one per cent of Chrysler's outstanding stock.

Love said the news was released to end inaccurate speculations.

A purchase of one per cent of Chrysler stock would represent about 90,000 shares. The stock traded Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange at about $57 a share.

On that basis the investment would be worth more than $5 million to Consolidation, the largest commercial producer of bituminous coal in the United States.

Man Files $750,000 Suit Against Railway

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert E. Raleigh, 66, of Cleveland is suing the Newburgh & South Shore Railway Co. for $750,000 in connection with an accident which he said cost him both legs.

The petition filed in Common Please Court alleges Raleigh was run over March 15, 1960, by a gondola car while employed at a company which has a siding on the railroad.

He said he decided to call himself Verne Hansen.

After giving newsmen the slip for several hours Wednesday night Hansen locked himself in his room in a second-class, downtown Rockford hotel.

The professor's wife, Dorothy, moved to California with her three sons—Carl, 18; Lee, 11, and Richard, 9—and divorced Holmberg two years ago. Last year she married Gordon Babcock, a consulting electronics engineer, and the family lives in Menlo Park.

Hearing Is Scheduled Interstate Road Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Highway Department will conduct a public hearing in Richfield, Summit County, next Wednesday on an 18-mile interstate highway traffic relief route. The proposed project would cost about $27.5 million.

The four-lane divided, limited access road—part of Interstate 271—would be in Medina and Summit counties. Beginning at Interstate 71 (Medina Freeway), it would run northeast to Ohio 8. This would form part of a continuous route between Interstate 71 and Interstate 90 running toward the New York Thruway.

The new stretch would pass east of Cleveland's congested traffic area.

Pittsburgh Coal Firm Buys Chrysler Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — George H. Love, chairman of both Consolidation Coal Co. and Crysler Corp., confirmed Wednesday published reports that the Pittsburgh coal firm has purchased about one per cent of Chrysler's outstanding stock.

Love said the news was released to end inaccurate speculations.

A purchase of one per cent of Chrysler stock would represent about 90,000 shares. The stock traded Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange at about $57 a share.

On that basis the investment would be worth more than $5 million to Consolidation, the largest commercial producer of bituminous coal in the United States.

Man Files $750,000 Suit Against Railway

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert E. Raleigh, 66, of Cleveland is suing the Newburgh & South Shore Railway Co. for $750,000 in connection with an accident which he said cost him both legs.

The petition filed in Common Please Court alleges Raleigh was run over March 15, 1960, by a gondola car while employed at a company which has a siding on the railroad.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: For me there is no hope. I married the wrong girl and I'm stuck. I was 25 and should have known better. It was all there—right before my eyes but I thought I could change her after marriage.

I saw the whole bit—how her mother treated her father, the filthy house, the fact that no two members of the family ever sat down to a meal together. They walked around eating out of tin cans or paper cartons—dipping spoons and forks into pans, not even bothering about dishes.

These people didn't have to live like this. They could have afforded much better. There wasn't a newspaper, a magazine or a book in the house. They never heard of hanging a picture on the wall—only snapshots and photographs of the family stuck with adhesive tape or thumb tacks.

I'm writing this to warn other guys. In the name of heaven look around and take a good look at the girl's house and family because yours will be the same way. Plain hell—that's what it is. —JUST A BOOB.

Security Shows

Dear Ann: Our 8-year-old son is terribly fond of his third-grade teacher. Tim asks me to bake something for Miss J. at least twice a week. He brings her oranges, apples, bananas (one day a grapefruit), flowers and he has even saved from his allowance to buy her dime store perfume.

My husband thinks this is admirable. He says we should be pleased that Tim is so thoughtful and generous. I say there ought to be a limit to giftgiving. Furthermore, I don't feel it is good for a child to attach so much importance to gifts. Some days when Tim has no gift for Miss J. he doesn't want to go to school.

My husband and I welcome your views.—J.W.

Dear J.W.: Your son feels inadequate. He is fearful that Miss J. will not like him for himself so he takes her gifts in the hope that this will stand him in better stead.

Explain to Tim that it is how you treat people and not what you give them that counts. Emphasize that an occasional gift is fine, especially if he saves for it himself. But it represents no sacrifice to the boy if you bake for Miss J. twice a week.

An Easy Solution

Dear Ann: I'm so upset I don't know what to do. I'm afraid to ask any of my friends because my husband has read in your column that married people should settle their differences between themselves and not blab to outsiders.

Six months ago I lost my wedding ring. I was just sick over it. Now I am pregnant and have to go the doctor's office for checkups. I am quite large and it is plain why I am in the doctor's office. I feel just awful, sitting there with no wedding ring.

I have begged my husband to buy me another ring. He refuses, saying that anyone who is so careless doesn't deserve another chance. I dread going to the hospital without a ring. What can I do?—RINGLESS.

-:-

Dear Ringless: For little more than the price of the airmail special delivery stamps you put on this envelope, you can buy yourself a wedding band at the dime store. Get going.

Confidentially

TO CAT'S ME-OW: Don't push your luck. Quit while you're ahead. In my opinion you already have more than you're entitled to.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Appeals Conviction

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Alleging 21 errors, John Spain, attorney for Paul LaMonge of Niles, appealed Wednesday from LaMonge's conviction of extortion in the city's sewer project scandal.

4 Who Ran Grid Pool Ordered To Pay Back Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Ohioans who ran a football betting pool for three years have been ordered to pay $66,228 in back income taxes and penalties by a U.S. tax court.

The court said Michael F. Hallabrin and his wife, both of Mansfield, must pay $53,956. This stems from taxes owed for the football pool and their Mansfield coin machine company, M. H. Novelty Co., from 1953-57.

Clarence I. Steffey and his wife, also of Mansfield, who operate the Central Ohio Vending Co., must pay $12,272 for football pool taxes.

Hallabrin and Steffey claimed the pool was a losing operation, but the court said each man apparently earned $35,450 profit during the three-year period.

The partners sold wagering cards in Mansfield, Mount Vernon, Shelby, Manor, Ashland and Norwalk, Ohio, at an average of $1 per bet, the court said.

Hallabrin's testimony about income from his coin machine operations was tabbed "not worthy of belief" by the court.

In 1960 the two men were convicted in a federal court for failing to file wagering excise tax returns on football pool operations.

The economy of Canada has grown faster since World War II than that of any other country in the world.

HAL HUMPHREY

Margaret O'Brien Can't Shake Kildare

Margaret O'Brien has turned into a press agent's dream come true. Eighteen years ago Margaret was a kid star at MGM, and one of the pictures she did then was a Dr. Kildare epic titled "Dr. Gillespie's Criminal Case."

Hal Humphrey

The other day Margaret returned to MGM for the first time in years, and you get just one guess at what she was called to do. Why, play a role in MGM's "Dr. Kildare" TV series—what else?

Margaret is considerably more mature now than she was then, at the tender age of 5. Instead of being bounced on Lionel Barrymore's knee (he was Doc Gillespie, remember?), she this time plays a winsome nurse who in one scene tries to put the make on the new Dr. Kildare.

-:-

HER BIG SCENES in "Dr. Gillespie's Criminal Case" were with the older Barrymore. She was a typhoid patient, and he pulled her through as a kind of sideline to the main plot.

"I remember it all quite well," says Margaret. "Donna Reed and Marilyn Maxwell were nurses, and Van Johnson played an intern. Mr. Barrymore used to make rag dolls for me when we weren't shooting."

Plenty of other things were different, too, Margaret discovered on her return to Dr. Kildare and MGM. The money (for her) was better. She was getting about $200 a week in 1943. The few days she put in on the TV "Dr. Kildare" paid her around $4,000. It goes on NBC tonight.

-:-

"WORKING AT MGM now seems almost like working at an aircraft plant," Margaret reports. "You punch in and punch out, and the commissary is like any other commissary.

"I can still see Louis B. Mayer as he used to walk into the commissary then. When he arrived, everybody stopped talking. The waitresses even stopped serving. He was like a king.

"There's no caste system in the commissary now, but there was then, and where you ate depended upon who you were and how much money you made.

"There was a big schoolhouse right on the lot then for all of us kids. It's gone now," says Margaret, a bit sadly.

She made 27 pictures by the time she was 15. About the only star Margaret never got to work with at MGM then was Lassie.

-:-

"BUT I SAW a lot of people who are still there, like the wardrobe mistress, and on this 'Dr. Kildare' I had the same soundman and cameraman who were on my pictures then.

"The strangest coincidence of all, though was seeing Jimmy Durante. I worked with him in a picture called 'Music for Millions.' I was June Allyson's sister. Now Jimmy is back at MGM making 'Jumbo,' and it was his first time back, too."

She also renewed acquaintance with Leon Ames, who is the father now in MGM's "Father of the Bride" TV series. In 1944 he was Margaret and Judy Garland's father in "Meet Me in St. Louis," during the late Louis B. Mayer's regime.

Margaret says she's just now beginning to live down her past as a pigtailed little girl. Her career went into limbo when she got too gangling to be cute, and by the time she rounded into an attractive brunette, the producers wouldn't believe it was the same Margaret O'Brien.

-:-

"I HAD TO START over, and make myself over, too. Even then I had a hard time convincing anyone. In 1958 I was cast as Beth in the TV version of 'Little Women,' just because I had played the same role in the movie in 1949.

"I know it sounds silly, but I think a lot of producers don't hire me because they like to swear when they get mad, and they don't feel right swearing at Margaret O'Brien."

When she makes eyes at the new Dr. Kildare (Richard Chamberlain), Margaret hopes these producers will see that she is old enough to be sworn at.

Ruling Drops City Holidays

A written opinion from Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper has cut off the list two of the holidays observed by City Hall under a long-standing tradition, leaving a total of nine.

The solicitor's opinion, issued at the request of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, eliminates Lincoln's Birthday (Feb. 12) and Washington's Birthday (Feb. 22) from the list of holidays observed officially by the municipality, resulting in closing of the City Hall.

Cooper's opinion lists three dates designated as legal holidays by state law and six more set apart by the city code.

The city code lists New Year's Day, Memorial Day, July Fourth, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The state law designates Columbus Day (Oct., 12), the November general election date, but only from noon to 5:30 p.m., and Veterans Day (Nov. 11).

In the same letter, the solicitor listed 10 holidays which are observed by school systems and banks and other financial institutions. They all are designated in the state code.

The mayor requested the opinion to avoid any possible confusion about which of the many holidays in any year call for suspension of municipal business. He said his office will be guided in the future by the solicitor's opinion.

Parking will be free on the same nine dates, as the parking meter ordinance provides that motorists need not pay fees on legal holidays, the mayor explained.

The list of City Hall holidays had grown though long custom to include Feb. 12 and Feb. 22 in addition to the holidays cited by the solicitor.

Man Who Saved Another In River To Be Honored

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Alfred Tanner never did find out the name of the man he rescued from the Ohio River, but it earned him a silver medal.

Tanner, a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard Reserve, was headed for Washington, D.C., today for the annual Reserve Officers Association dinner. The award was to be a dinner highlight.

Tanner, head of physical education in Talawanda School District, plunged into the river last April to save a man pitched into the water when a small private boat capsized. The rescued man and his friends left the scene, and Tanner said nothing about it to others.

The incident might have passed unnoticed except that passengers on a nearby ferry boat saw the rescue and noted Tanner's auto license. They told the Cincinnati Coast Guard office which made its own investigation.

Tanner said he sometimes made similar rescues at a beach near Akron where he works in summer as a life guard.

Land Contract Laws Outlined For Realtors

LISBON—The Columbiana County Board of Realtors met Tuesday evening at Timberlane's Restaurant in Salem with Atty. Earl Miller of the Farmers National Bank guest speaker.

Atty. Miller spoke on the new laws concerning land contracts, new marketability of property and bank financing of leased property.

Next meeting is March 13 at 6:30 p. m. at Timberlane's.

HAL HUMPHREY

Margaret O'Brien Can't Shake Kildare

Margaret O'Brien has turned into a press agent's dream come true. Eighteen years ago Margaret was a kid star at MGM, and one of the pictures she did then was a Dr. Kildare epic titled "Dr. Gillespie's Criminal Case."

Hal Humphrey

The other day Margaret returned to MGM for the first time in years, and you get just one guess at what she was called to do. Why, play a role in MGM's "Dr. Kildare" TV series—what else?

Margaret is considerably more mature now than she was then, at the tender age of 5. Instead of being bounced on Lionel Barrymore's knee (he was Doc Gillespie, remember?), she this time plays a winsome nurse who in one scene tries to put the make on the new Dr. Kildare.

-:-

HER BIG SCENES in "Dr. Gillespie's Criminal Case" were with the older Barrymore. She was a typhoid patient, and he pulled her through as a kind of sideline to the main plot.

"I remember it all quite well," says Margaret. "Donna Reed and Marilyn Maxwell were nurses, and Van Johnson played an intern. Mr. Barrymore used to make rag dolls for me when we weren't shooting."

Plenty of other things were different, too, Margaret discovered on her return to Dr. Kildare and MGM. The money (for her) was better. She was getting about $200 a week in 1943. The few days she put in on the TV "Dr. Kildare" paid her around $4,000. It goes on NBC tonight.

-:-

"WORKING AT MGM now seems almost like working at an aircraft plant," Margaret reports. "You punch in and punch out, and the commissary is like any other commissary.

"I can still see Louis B. Mayer as he used to walk into the commissary then. When he arrived, everybody stopped talking. The waitresses even stopped serving. He was like a king.

"There's no caste system in the commissary now, but there was then, and where you ate depended upon who you were and how much money you made.

"There was a big schoolhouse right on the lot then for all of us kids. It's gone now," says Margaret, a bit sadly.

She made 27 pictures by the time she was 15. About the only star Margaret never got to work with at MGM then was Lassie.

-:-

"BUT I SAW a lot of people who are still there, like the wardrobe mistress, and on this 'Dr. Kildare' I had the same soundman and cameraman who were on my pictures then.

"The strangest coincidence of all, though was seeing Jimmy Durante. I worked with him in a picture called 'Music for Millions.' I was June Allyson's sister. Now Jimmy is back at MGM making 'Jumbo,' and it was his first time back, too."

She also renewed acquaintance with Leon Ames, who is the father now in MGM's "Father of the Bride" TV series. In 1944 he was Margaret and Judy Garland's father in "Meet Me in St. Louis," during the late Louis B. Mayer's regime.

Margaret says she's just now beginning to live down her past as a pigtailed little girl. Her career went into limbo when she got too gangling to be cute, and by the time she rounded into an attractive brunette, the producers wouldn't believe it was the same Margaret O'Brien.

-:-

"I HAD TO START over, and make myself over, too. Even then I had a hard time convincing anyone. In 1958 I was cast as Beth in the TV version of 'Little Women,' just because I had played the same role in the movie in 1949.

"I know it sounds silly, but I think a lot of producers don't hire me because they like to swear when they get mad, and they don't feel right swearing at Margaret O'Brien."

When she makes eyes at the new Dr. Kildare (Richard Chamberlain), Margaret hopes these producers will see that she is old enough to be sworn at.

Ruling Drops City Holidays

A written opinion from Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper has cut off the list two of the holidays observed by City Hall under a long-standing tradition, leaving a total of nine.

The solicitor's opinion, issued at the request of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, eliminates Lincoln's Birthday (Feb. 12) and Washington's Birthday (Feb. 22) from the list of holidays observed officially by the municipality, resulting in closing of the City Hall.

Cooper's opinion lists three dates designated as legal holidays by state law and six more set apart by the city code.

The city code lists New Year's Day, Memorial Day, July Fourth, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The state law designates Columbus Day (Oct. 12), the November general election date, but only from noon to 5:30 p.m., and Veterans Day (Nov. 11).

In the same letter, the solicitor listed 10 holidays which are observed by school systems and banks and other financial institutions. They all are designated in the state code.

The mayor requested the opinion to avoid any possible confusion about which of the many holidays in any year call for suspension of municipal business. He said his office will be guided in the future by the solicitor's opinion.

Parking will be free on the same nine dates, as the parking meter ordinance provides that motorists need not pay fees on legal holidays, the mayor explained.

The list of City Hall holidays had grown though long custom to include Feb. 12 and Feb. 22 in addition to the holidays cited by the solicitor.

Man Who Saved Another In River To Be Honored

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Alfred Tanner never did find out the name of the man he rescued from the Ohio River, but it earned him a silver medal.

Tanner, a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard Reserve, was headed for Washington, D.C., today for the annual Reserve Officers Association dinner. The award was to be a dinner highlight.

Tanner, head of physical education in Talawanda School District, plunged into the river last April to save a man pitched into the water when a small private boat capsized. The rescued man and his friends left the scene, and Tanner said nothing about it to others.

The incident might have passed unnoticed except that passengers on a nearby ferry boat saw the rescue and noted Tanner's auto license. They told the Cincinnati Coast Guard office which made its own investigation.

Tanner said he sometimes made similar rescues at a beach near Akron where he works in summer as a life guard.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Gordon Laughlin. In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, who departed this life one year ago today. Midnight stars are gleaming on a lonely grave Where sleeping, but not dreaming, lies the one we could not save. In dreams we see her dear sweet face. And kiss her cold, cold brow, and whisper As we loved her then, we love her memory now. We think of her in silence. No eyes can see us weep. But still within our aching hearts Her memory we shall keep. She bade none a last farewell. She said goodbye to none. The heavenly gates had opened. A lovely voice said, Come. And with farewell unspoken She gently entered home. Our dear mother sleeps in silence, We'd not disturb her rest. Sad and lonely are the hearts of those who loved her best. From her loving daughter, Mrs. Betty Waters, and granddaughters.

IN loving memory of our dear husband and father, Walter Russell who passed away 2 years ago on Feb. 15th 1960. Our good Lord above took you away from us in a sudden kind of way, but he knew best, we know we will be with you again some day. Sadly missed by his wife, Son and Daughters.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Gordon Laughlin. In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, who departed this life one year ago today.
Midnight stars are gleaming on a lonely grave Where sleeping, but not dreaming, lies the one we could not save. In dreams we see her dear sweet face, And kiss her cold, cold brow, and whisper As we loved her then, we love her memory now. We think of her in silence. No eyes can see us weep. But still within our aching hearts Her memory we shall keep. She bade none a last farewell. She said goodbye to none. The heavenly gates had opened. A lovely voice said, Come. And with farewell unspoken She gently entered home. Our dear mother sleeps in silence, We'd not disturb her rest. Sad and lonely are the hearts of those who loved her best.
From her loving daughter, Mrs. Betty Waters, and granddaughters.

IN loving memory of our dear husband and father, Walter Russell who passed away 2 years ago on Feb. 15th 1960. Our good Lord above took you away from us in a sudden kind of way, but he knew best, we know we will be with you again some day.
Sadly missed by his wife, Son and Daughters.

THIS IS BAD. YET! IT'S GOOD.

It's BAD because these are GOOD SOUND homes, being well built, having withstood YEARS of all KINDS of WEATHER.
It's GOOD, because anyone wanting or needing a GOOD HOME can see all the DEFECTS and FAULTS (IF ANY) by no furniture and rugs to help distract one's inspection.

This one house has only had two tenants since it was built. It has two nice bedrooms and bath. Large livingroom with FIREPLACE, dining room and kitchen, enclosed front porch, good dry basement with a GOOD hot water HEATING SYSTEM. Also a single car garage. Price $8,000.

This house also has two bedrooms and bath, large kitchen, LARGE LIVINGROOM with fireplace, large dining room. A GOOD coal FURNACE and a large DOUBLE GARAGE. Price $6,500

Both of these homes are NOW VACANT. The owners will listen to any REASONABLE OFFERS. Best of all they are CLOSE TO TOWN, less than 10 minutes walk to the diamond. They can be bought on LAND CONTRACT to the RIGHT PARTY.

THIS IS BAD. YET! IT'S GOOD.

It's BAD because these are GOOD SOUND homes, being well built, having withstood YEARS of all KINDS of WEATHER.
It's GOOD, because anyone wanting or needing a GOOD HOME can see all the DEFECTS and FAULTS (IF ANY) by no furniture and rugs to help distract one's inspection.

This one house has only had two tenants since it was built. It has two nice bedrooms and bath. Large livingroom with FIREPLACE, dining room and kitchen, enclosed front porch, good dry basement with a GOOD hot water HEATING SYSTEM. Also a single car garage. Price $8,000.

This house also has two bedrooms and bath, large kitchen, LARGE LIVINGROOM with fireplace, large dining room. A GOOD coal FURNACE and a large DOUBLE GARAGE. Price $6,500

Both of these homes are NOW VACANT. The owners will listen to any REASONABLE OFFERS. Best of all they are CLOSE TO TOWN, less than 10 minutes walk to the diamond. They can be bought on LAND CONTRACT to the RIGHT PARTY.

STARS

QUESTION: Why do stars seem to be pointed?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: As we look up at the stars they always seem to have sharp pointed rays spreading out from their centers, and they seem to twinkle and whirl. They really are all huge masses of gases, and they look pointed and twinkling because we see them through the earth's atmosphere. Did you ever watch hot air rising from the sidewalk or the road on a hot summer day? The hot air itself is impossible to see, but you can tell it is there because the rest of the road looks wavy. Just so, the stars seem pointed and twinkling because we view them through the heat of the atmosphere. Centuries ago, men did not know this. They really believed that stars were pointed and they drew them that way. Today we know what the stars really look like, but we still like to think of them as sparkling five-pointed figures and we draw them just the same way as did the ancients.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can learn to identify some of the stars in the sky.

★ ★ ★

LUKE CADMAN
With Crucible For 38 Years.

East End Man Retires After 38 Years With Mill

With the retirement of Luke W. Cadman of Globe St., the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. has lost one of its most experienced men in blooming mill operations.

A roller - foreman, he accumulated 38 years of service with Crucible — all of it in the blooming mill.

The company also announced the retirement of six others, including four from East Liverpool and one each from Irondale and Smiths Ferry.

They are Leo L. Payne, pipe fitter in the pipe shop, 19 years service; Gil Evora, grinder in the inspection department, 39 years; Walter C. Wolfe, storeroom floorman in the finishing mill, 19 years, and William D. Argabrite, a millwright in the finishing mill, 20 years, all of East Liverpool; Vaso Plecas of Smiths Ferry, bottom maker in the blooming mill, 34 years, and Walter Pearson of Irondale, mechanical grinder in the condition department, 15 years.

Before joining Crucible in 1923, Cadman was a coal miner and later a member of the Midland Police force. He served in World War I with the Marines.

U.S. Embassy Hit By $160,000 Fire In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Fire swept through the partially completed new U.S. Embassy building here Wednesday night. Flames shot as high as 250 feet, causing steel girder work to collapse and destroying wooden scaffolding. No one was hurt.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. A Mexican official estimated damage at $160,000.

Officials feared the fire may have set back completion of the $4 million structure from six months to a year past the original target date of August 1963. Only the foundation, basement and first two floors had been completed before the fire. The building was designed to be the largest U.S. Embassy in Latin America and one of the three largest embassies in the world.

Commissioners Authorize Planning Study Committee

Establishment of a 21-member study committee to consider a regional planning program for Columbiana County was authorized at a meeting of the county commissioners and a steering committee Tuesday night at Lisbon.

The steering committee, headed by Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, met with Commissioners Galen Greenisen and Frank Wilson at the Lisbon Village Hall to map plans for the study group.

The committee, to be appointed within 30 days, will have five members from East Liverpool, three from Salem, two from Wellsville, one each from East Palestine, Columbiana and Lisbon areas, three from the western section of the county (Knox, West, Butler and Hanover Townships), two from the southern section of the county and three at random.

Representatives will be chosen from service clubs, city government, farm groups, Chambers of Commerce, labor organizations, school officials and township officers.

Discussion was held on the advantages, costs and problems of planning. The study group is to survey the aspects of planning in the county and submit to the commissioners a plan for action.

Atty. Elliott said it is hoped the committee can be selected and hold meetings so that a proposal can be presented commissioners as soon as possible.

Adrian IV, born Nicholas Breakspear, was the only Englishman to become Pope. He served from 1154 to 1159.
